DIPHTHERIA RAGING.

Shelbyville, Ind., Sept. 14.—This city is infested with dipatheria, which has become epidemic. Thirty deaths have been reported within the last two days and new cases are being reported constantly. Services at the schools and churches have been suspended and a general quarantine has been established. The contagion is thought to be from the filth of hog pens and slaughter houses in the east end of the city, which have not been properly disinfected.

DAMAGED BY FIRE.

London, Sept. 14.—News has been received in this city that the Salvages, a group of islands near the Canaries, were recently the scene of a disastrous fire. Several hundred houses were destroyed by the flames while others were demolished to prevent the conflagrations spreading. The loss was about $1,000,000.

Sensational Cables from Lisbon.

Convents and Hospitals to Be Investigated.

Religious Institutions Enter a Protest.

King Charles Will Not Disgrace His Wife.

German Authorities Looking Into the Radical Utterances of the Socialists—Foreign News.

London, Sept. 14.—A Lisbon dispatch says that the commission appointed by the government to institute inquiries into the manner and mode of living in hospitals, convents and other religious establishments have met with decided opposition from the ecclesiastical authorities as to any encroachment upon the privacy of religious life.

The commission was appointed in consequence of the death of a young woman by poison in the convent at Lisbon and the discovery that the girl had been the victim of an outrage.

The newspapers, especially the radical press, took the case up with such earnestness that the public mind became highly excited and the government as a matter of prudence, insisted upon an official investigation.

The ecclesiastical authorities, it is said, however, while welcoming investigation, as to the particular incident, deny the right of officials to ransack religious establishments for the purpose of gratifying idle curiosity.

It is claimed, in behalf of the convent in which she died, that she met her misfortune before entering it, and that her death was the result of remorse.

Notwithstanding all opposition, it seems probable that a thorough investigation will be made and the condition of the convents laid bare before the public.

It now appears, according to a Vienna dispatch, that the pitiful condition of the queen of Roumania, whose life is despaired of, is largely due to her knowledge of the attempts made to induce her husband to obtain a divorce from her.

Certain members of the ministry had been advising King Charles to follow the example of ex-King Milan, of Servia, and discard his wife through the means of a divorce.

To this the king objected, on the ground that the queen had always been a faithful wife, however much she might disagree with him as to certain matters of domestic policy and that he would not disgrace her by any proceeding for legal separation.

Therefore, the idea of a divorce was given up. Meantime, however, the queen's anguish of mind had greatly aggravated her physical troubles, which were serious enough, and a fatal result is expected.

Her meeting with the king, on his visit to Venice, is said to have been very touching and the royal couple showed every sign of affection. The effect of the meeting was an apparent improvement of the queen's condition. The situation of the Roumanian royal family is acknowledged on all sides to be most pitiful.

Among the features of the Austrian manoeuvres, now being continued, are the use of a printing press on the field to print immediately the orders from headquarters to field officers, and the photographing of the troops while in actual motion, in their various tactics. The Archduchess Maria Theresa, of Austria, is an accomplished amateur photographer.

Thirty-nine vessels of all sorts will take part in the manoeuvres of the German fleet, and Admiral Von Der Goltz will be in command. The manoeuvres will take the form of an attack on the coast defenses of Kiel, and both land and sea forces will be engaged. There is another spurt in the rifle factories at Spandau, and the hours of the workmen have been doubled.

A Berlin dispatch says that the police authorities have been instructed to send in to Chancellor Caprivi as full reports as possible of the utterances at a meeting of socialists in the Coburg beer garden, and it is expected that the more extreme speakers will be prosecuted.

The substance of the speeches has been made public and the ministry has, it is said, come to the conclusion that the language is too violent to be overlooked, and that it would create a bad example to ignore it.

BELIEVE HIM INNOCENT,

Did Sam'l o' Posen Commit Murder?

Witnesses Will Swear That a Third Party Did the Shooting in Front of the Jail.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—A special to the Inter-Ocean from San Francisco says: There has been developed a remarkable change of public sentiment and half the people now believe that M. B. Curtis, the comedian, is an innocent man. There is much mystery surrounding the whole affair.

The theory of Curtis' friends that another hand than his fired the shot which killed Officer Grant gains support from a story told by Eli Denison, who has charge of news matter distributed on trains of the Southern Pacific company. Denison, who lives in Oakland, makes the following statement: "On the ferryboat to-day (Sunday) I met a man I knew by sight, but not byname. We were discussing various subjects, and the conversation naturally drifted toward the murder. 'This talk about Curtis having done the killing is all a mistake,' said the stranger. 'The whole truth will come out in a few days, and probably at the examination. I met a man to-day who says he saw the tragedy, and he is ready to take oath that Grant and Curtis were accompanied by a third man, who did the shooting and then ran. Even when I met him he was on the way to Capt. Lee's to whom he said he intended to give the story."

JEWISH PAUPERS.

Montreal, Sept. 14.—The 110 Jewish pauper immigrants who were landed here a few days ago from the steamer Oregon have at last been disposed of, after leaving here in a half starved condition. Since they arrived Mr. Saul Davis, cigar merchant, contributed $500 to have them removed from the country. Thirty-eight have been sent to Winnepeg and 58 have been divided between Buffalo and Detroit and left for their destination last night. The balance will remain and will be looked after in Montreal by Jewish families here.

URBANA DEMOCRATS.

Garard for Representative and a Strong County Ticket.

Urbana, O., Sept. 14.—The adjourned session of the democratic county convention was held here Saturday.

Sceva; commissioner, Christian Norman; infirmary director, John H. Blose. The state platform was indorsed and the following resolutions adopted:

Resolved, That we heartily approve and indorse the renomination of that gallant democrat and standard-bearer, Hon. James E. Campbell, for the office of governor, and pledge him and the entire ticket nominated at the state convention our hearty and united support.

That we denounce the legalized robbery now being practiced on the people under the operation of the McKinley law.

The new county central committee organized by electing Dr. Robert Henderson chairman and W. T. Wear secretary.

WILL CASE SETTLED.

Clarksburg, W. Va., Sept. 14.—The Camden-Somers will case was compromised yesterday. Mrs. Cameron takes $110,000 and the rest of the estate goes to heirs at law of Judge Camden, which is virtually a settlement on the basis of the marriage contract.

THE SEATTLE KIDNAPING.

There Was Reason for the Strange Deed.

Fidelity Trust Bank Robbery Concerned in It.

One of the Officers Stole a Million and Coolly Forced a Compromise in the Woods.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 14.—The San Francisco Examiner prints the following story concerning the robbery of the Fidelity Trust Bank at Tacoma, by its secretary, Edward Albertson, on Aug. 24, last.

It was heretofore believed that Albertson lost some $9,000 only in speculation, and surprise was caused by the extraordinary efforts made to capture him. It now appears he took $20,000 in cash and nearly a million in securities.

Early on the morning of August 24 a note was received by Paul Schultze, a director of the bank, from Albertson, saying he had lost $10,000 of the bank's money in speculation, and to force a compromise had taken $10,000 more in cash and nine hundred thousand in securities.

He would meet him or one of his representatives in the woods at a designated place and return the securities, if given a written agreement not to prosecute.

The point chosen gives a commanding view of all the approaches and Albertson said he would flee at once if he saw more than one man coming to the rendezvous. Moreover he had changed the combination of the vaults and it would take three days to open them without it. Meanwhile the bank's credit would suffer.

A meeting of the directors was held and it was agreed to accept a compromise. A man was sent to the rendezvous with a signed agreement not to prosecute. Instead of Albertson, he found one Chandler, a gambler, who was evidently an accomplice.

The messenger gave him the agreement and received the securities and the combination to the vaults. The men separated and the messenger saw Albertson join Chandler.

The bank at once commenced extraordinary efforts to capture the thieves. J. H. Cahoon, cashier of the Fidelity bank and brother-in-law of Albertson, was arrested by Detective Sullivan, who confined him in a hotel for several days trying to force a confession.

The story got out and Sullivan was forced to release the prisoner who was then legally arrested for complicity.

Last Thursday Sullivan and two guards boldly kidnapped R. B. Albertson, a second cousin of the absconder, and W. E. Bailey, who happened to be with him in the streets of Seattle, in broad daylight.

The kidnapers were followed and arrested and their prisoners freed. Albertson was suspected of complicity in his cousin's actions. It is believed the thieves have escaped.

HOLLINGSWORTH'S STORY.

New York, Sept. 14.—Wm. S. Hollingsworth, who is alleged by a morning paper to have stolen $100,000 from his partner's (John Daly, the king of New York gamblers) safe, said to-day the whole story was untrue. Some time ago he quit the gambling business on account of his children. He squared up everything and has witnesses to show it. He did not need to take any money to square Wall street losses as his dealings showed a large profit.

STARK COUNTY DEMOCRATS.

Canton, O., Sept. 14.—The democratic central committee organized here by electing J. B. Michener chairman and August Smith secretary.

FAYETTE'S CANDIDATE.

Washington, O., Sept. 14.—Fayette's choice for senator, decided by a ballot, is F. G. Carpenter.

STABBED TO DEATH.

Murderous Scene in an Arkansas Court.

Two Men Quarrel Over Cattle, Go to Court, and One Kills the Other.

Paragould, Ark., Sept. 14.—Jim Honey fatally stabbed Silas Potter in Squire Hart's court Saturday. Both men are well-to-do planters and had a quarrel over some cattle.

The case was taken before the squire for settlement and during the hearing Honey became enraged at some utterance of his adversary, sprang upon him with an open knife and stabbed him several times. Honey was immediately arrested.

There is some talk of lynching, but the authorities and Honey's friends are on the alert and will protect the prisoner.

ORTH STEIN IS IN JAIL.

He Tells the Story of His Suffering.

Driven to Desperation by a Wrong Step.

A Man Who Has Kept Officers Guessing All Over the Country Tells His Pitiful Tale.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 14.—Orth Stein, the notorious crook, has been arrested and is now in the De Kalb county jail. His career in Georgia has been quite romantic as well as sensational, and when arrested on suspicion frankly told the officers that he was tired of the life he was following and admitted that he was Orth Stein.

He told the story of his troubles as follows:

If all the facts were known in my case I believe I would be as much pitied as condemned.

The truth is bad, shameful; the embellishments are simply monstrous. The fact of the matter is that I am not a great criminal, nor a shrewd, cunning villain as the newspapers pictured, going about seeking what I might devour, but a hunted, hounded, sick and heart-broken man, who has been driven into desperation if ever anybody in this world has been.

Now this is the truth, as God is my judge. Prior to the shooting of Frederick my career was honorable, upright and successful. I was just a boy, a good deal less than 21. I had done very well in my profession, and was foolish, vain, of course, and a little wild. I got into the toils of a bad woman, a woman 10 years older than myself, and you who read this, you who have children of your own, do not forget that I was a boy, away from the influences of my home, all by myself.

Well, in a midnight quarrel on this woman's staircase, I killed Fredericks. God help me. I wish it had been I. But it was a case of self-defense. He had a cocked revolver in his hand when he fell.

At my first trial I was convicted. The decision was reversed on the grounds of perjury of witnesses for the prosecution, and next time I was acquitted. This is all a matter of record. I did not assassinate him. The jury who heard all the facts declared me justified, and they certainly knew more about it than any newspaper at this day possibly can.

I ask, in the light of this acquittal, where it is right to still call me a murderer? But nevertheless I was branded as such. Then followed the loss of my mother's property, through business disaster with which I had no more to do than I had to do with the deluge.

But I was saddled with it all the same, not by her, heaven knows, but by outsiders, whose merciless pursuit has since then made my life not worth living. Follies and vices which I possessed in common with nine other men out of ten were suddenly stripped to the public eye, accompanied by a denunciation so fierce and general that I withered under it. Facts were distorted.

Stories were deliberately invented, and without being conscious that I had been guilty of any very grievous wrong I literally awoke one morning to find myself an Ishmaelite with every head turned against me.

It drove me desperate, and, feeling that the doors of my profession were suddenly slammed in my face, I went headlong to the bad. Now it may be well asked, if all this was untrue, why I did not face the music.

In reply, let me ask how many there are who, if their pet vices, their little private follies and pecadilloes, were suddenly exposed in their worst light, could make a satisfactory defense?

In my case there was just a sufficient grain of truth in what was said to make it impossible for me to explain, and sufficient falsehood to madden me with a sense of injustice.

Anyhow, I burned the bridges behind me. After my first misstep, my fate was absolutely sealed. Horrified at my position, I made effort after effort to start all over again, but I was recognized and always driven out.

I can say, as I hope for mercy hereafter, that everything wrong I did in that horrible line I was urged into by necessity, want, sometimes actually by hunger.

That whole period is one awful nightmare to me. Crazy to forget and afraid to think, I stupefied myself with whisky and opium, and I do not believe that upon the face of all the earth there was a more pitiful wretch than I, as I fled from place to place, seeking mainly to escape the pursuit of the past.

I wound it up by getting into prison. God only knows what I suffered there, but, on the other hand, I began to hope. I believed that in the interval my past would be forgotten; that I could start life again under a different name.

I think this hope alone kept me alive. When I emerged I went to a southern city and without difficulty procured work. I greatly pleased my employer, and the future looked entirely bright.

One day a railroad detective recognized me, stopped me on the street and demanded to know what I was doing. I told him. He replied that I was "wanted;" that I had best leave town.

I assured him that there was no case against me, and then he insisted that I give the details of my life to both the office where I worked and the hotels where I stopped. I knew what that meant. I could not do it. I spent one night of agonizing indecision and then left the city.

I came to Atlanta and tried it over again. Just as I was obtaining a foothold a representative of a great agency (which I will name if necessary) ordered me preemptorily to get out of his territory.

"I am sorry," he said, "but I'm employed to keep you people out. You will have to go, or I'll show you up."

I begged and pleaded with him, and the first tears that I have shed for many a year came to my eyes when I thought of my ruined life and the horrid prospect of being driven back into the old paths. But he was inexorable. I had to go. Then came flight and then the exposures. The old story all over again.

When I was arrested here I was footsore, distracted, penniless, friendless, every face turned against me, all the newspapers at full cry at my heels and caring but very little how soon the end came. Now, what more is there to add? Very little. I have tried and failed. Crimes that I have never dreamed of have been laid at my door.

It makes no difference what a stronger or better man would have done, I have done the best I could. I only asked for the privilege of working unmolested for an honest living. I expect that this statement will be attacked and ridiculed and riddled.

Candidly I don't care; it is the first I have ever written, and it will be the last. It comes straight from my misery, and let me tell you that when I was in Atlanta the other day and walked up past the cemetery by the dummy road not knowing where I could sleep that night undisturbed and in safety, I looked anew into that quiet and peaceful tract and felt as if my heart would break. It made me think of my dead father and mother—how they once loved me and were proud of me, and I envied the people who were resting there for the tranquility I have not known for so many years and years.

ORTH HARPER STEIN.

MAY NOT LIVE.

Ottawa, O., Sept. 14.—Dick Yonce beat Thomas Vance so brutally in a street brawl Sunday night that he may die. Yonce has been arrested.

IT WAS A HOT FOOT.

Electricity Causes a Man to Get a Move on Himself.

Philadelphia, Sept. 14.—Early Saturday morning Policeman Baker shot at a man whom he had arrested for burglary. The fellow dropped, and the officer thought him either dead or badly wounded. The policeman carried the prisoner to the Hahnemann hospital, where the doctors could find no wound.

The man was to all appearances dead. Heroic measures were resorted to, the most severe being the sticking of pins in the parts of the body that are known to be sensitive.

The man never moved a muscle. They placed him on a stone and picked him with a scalpel. Still he gave no evidence of life. A galvanic battery was secured and tried on the bare soles of the man's feet. This settled it, and the fellow screamed lustily. He came near getting away, and fooled even the doctors for a time.

MARION AND MORROW.

Mt. Gilead, O., Sept. 14.—Saturday thes democratic convention for the joint legislative district of Marion and Morrow counties nominated Edward Conley, of Marion, for representative.

TO TAKE DOWN THE BARS

In Order to Let Foreign Goods Into the Fair.

The Administration Condemns the Tariff Law.

An Important Conference to be Held at the Treasury Building To-Morrow.

Washington, Sept. 14.—The question of recommending to congress certain changes in the tariff law that obstruct the free entry of foreign exhibits intended for the world's fair and amending certain treasury regulations relating to the same will be considered at a conference to be held at the treasury department to-morrow.

There will be present besides Acting Secretary Spaulding and Assistant Secretary Nettleton representing the treasury department, Sir Henry Wood and Sir James Dredge, representing Great Britain, Herr Wermuth, representing Germany, and Messrs. Butterworth, Handy, Peck and McCormick, representing the world's fair directory.

Messrs. Butterworth and Handy will explain to the government officials the needs of modifying certain tariff provisions so as to remove the least possible friction in foreign goods, intended for exhibition, in coming through our custom houses. The result of their recent visit to European countries will also be laid before the conference in an informal manner.

Mr. Butterworth arrived here to-day and Messrs. Handy, Peck and McCormick will arrive to-night. The others are already here. A general interchange of ideas with department officials on world's fair matters will occupy Messrs. Butterworth, Handy, Peck and McCormick most of the week.

THE DAYTON SUICIDE,

Believed in Lima to be G. Bush.

Mysterious Actions of the Man at Lima Where He Left an Unpaid Board Bill.

Lima, Sept. 14.—The photograph of the unknown Dayton (Ohio) suicide, who gave his name as Henry Weiland, the wealthy San Francisco brewer, bears a most striking resemblance to a stranger who was here for a couple of days and disappeared as mysteriously as he came on the 29th of August, or five days before the suicide of the man at Dayton.

The description of the man's appearance, clothing, age, complexion, weight, &c., corresponds minutely with that of the stranger who arrived at the Hotel French on the night of the 27th of August. He registered as G. Bush, of Cincinnati, and was assigned to room 43.

He did not get up until about noon the next day, and hung about the hotel until the following Saturday evening, when he disappeared, leaving his hotel bill unpaid, and owing Messrs. Terry, the proprietors, $5 borrowed money.

Bush claimed to represent a Cincinnati whisky house and said he was waiting for his draft here, and on that pretense received the advance of the money. He had no baggage or samples of any kind, as it was afterwards found out, and he visited no local trade at all.

He had some money with him, which he spent freely at the bar of the hotel. He was a stranger here, and talked to the hotel people a good deal about Brooklyn and Coney Island. Both the proprietors of the hotel, when they saw the photograph, said at once that it was that of Bush, who has not been heard from. The clerk, Alex McDonald, who saw a great deal of the man, is also confident that the Dayton suicide is Bush.

His mysterious actions about the house, his failure to remit for his expenses and the borrowed money, together with the striking resemblance, lead all who saw him to say they are one and the same person.

AUSTRALIAN BALLOT.

Dan Ryan Has Issued a Document of Interest.

Columbus, O., Sept. 14.—Secretary of State Ryan has issued an important document in pamphlet form giving a digest of the ballot law of Ohio, with forms, instructions and decisions.

It gives in condensed form the powers, liabilities and duties of election officers and voters under the Australian ballot.

In the introduction the secretary refers to the frequent inquiries addressed to the department for instructions or to the operation of the law, and states that the legal adviser of county boards is the prosecuting attorney and of city boards the city solicitor.

The pamphlet will be sent to every election officer in the state. This will require 20,000 copies.

MRS. THURMAN ILL.

Columbus, O., Sept. 14.—Mrs. Thurman, wife of Judge Allen G. Thurman, is reported to be a very sick woman. More than a week ago she contracted a very severe cold, and for several days her condition was considered serious.

GETTING TOGETHER.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 14.—By the capsizing of a row-boat on Lake Michigan yesterday afternoon Frank Hueppen, aged 27 years, and Robert Guerth, aged 22, were drowned. Norman Reeves, who was one of the party, clung to the boat till rescued by a passing tug.

UP IN FULTON COUNTY.

Tariff Reform is the Cry of the People.

Regular Meetings Held Every Week.

The People's Party—Senatorial Delegates Favorable to Ryan—Ralph Beaumont's Speech.

Wauseon, O., Sept. 14.—(Special)—The Fulton County Tariff Reform club held a special business meeting Saturday evening, at which it was decided in the future to hold regular meetings every Saturday evening till after election. The following program was chosen for next meeting:

M. T. Palmer—Explanation of the Australian ballot system.

F. B. Fowler—"Free Trade and Direct Tax."

Perry Chase, G. P. Reynolds, Dr. P. J. Lenhart and Frank Aldrich will make short speeches upon subjects of most interest to voters at the present time.

The subject of a club badge was taken up, but was left till the next meeting as untinished business.

Several new names were added to the club list, and a considerable sum was added to the surplus in the treasury.

An effort will be made by the club to send a large delegation to Delta Tuesday evening, September 22, to meet Mr. Warner, of New York, who will address the democrats of Fulton county at that place upon the issues of the day.

After adjournment the senatorial caucus was called. Perry J. Chase was made chairman, Frank Aldrich secretary. M. T. Palmer, W. W. Croninger and Frank Aldrich were chosen delegates, with Dr. P. J. Lenhart and J. Maag alternates. The Clinton township delegation will go uninstructed upon one senator, but will support Hon. John Ryan.

The people's party held their convention Saturday, placing a full ticket in the field, with the exception of prosecuting attorney. Contrary to expectations no one on the other tickets was indorsed, and there are now four tickets in the field in this county.

There was much disappointment felt at the absence of the speaker of the day, Ralph Beaumont, of Washington, D. C., who missed connections at Toledo and did not arrive here until nearly evening.

He addressed a good-sized crowd in front of the Eager house, and held them till after 10 o'clock.

He is a splendid talker, and although he hit both democrats and republicans some hard blows it was taken in good part and was greatly enjoyed by even the most rabid members of the old parties.

Frank Isbell, of the law firm of Chase & Isbell, a prominent young democrat and member of the county central committee, starts to Oregon to look after his interests there. He will probably be gone three or four weeks.

NEWS FROM THE ORIENT.

Dealing With the Riotous Chinese Residents.

Flood Damage Continues to be Reported—Cholera Discovered in Japan.

San Francisco, Sept. 14.—The steamer China arrived from Hong Kong and Yokohama yesterday, bringing the following advices: Some of the smaller riots are being settled locally in China, but the graver outrages on foreigners and the whole question of the anti-foreign movement generally will be settled in Peking.

There is no attempt, however, being made to break the turbulent force of Hunan, and the central government has plainly intimated its dread of attempting any such task. The foreign ministers are becoming more satisfied of the good intentions of the Chinese government, and are inclined to make matters easy for the authorities at Peking.

The flood in Fukukoka, Japan, last month caused the loss of 32 lives and the destruction of nearly a thousand houses.

A club is about to be formed in Yokohama to be known as the National Practical Rights club. Its object will be to subdue the foreign residents by means of a firm policy and induce them to reflect on the justice of concluding treaties on equal terms.

CHRISTIAN BROTHERS' SCHOOL

Will Be Located on Huron Street—Parochial Schools Will Open.

The Bee stated Saturday that St. Francis de Sales parish had secured the old Cook residence. It is located on Huron street, between Cherry and Walnut, and will be used for school purposes.

The building can be utilized both as a high school for St. Francis de Sales' parish and also as a residence for the community of Christian Brothers who are coming here from New York to locate.

There seems to be an impression abroad that the parochial schools of St. Francis de Sales will not reopen. This is unfounded, as they will reopen early in October.

FOUGHT FOR THEIR SEALS

Hunters Attacked by a Russian War Ship.

A Number of Persons Killed on Both Sides.

Fears That International Complications May Arise Over the Incident.

Victoria, B. C., Sept. 14.—The San Francisco schooner City of San Diego reached here Saturday night with 600 skins from Copper island on the Russian side of Behring sea. Its commander reports an eventful trip.

On August 2, in company with 25 boats from other schooners, they raided the island, catching and skinning seals. A thick fog covered their operations, when a volley of about 40 rifle shots rang out and made all seek their boats, leaving hundreds of dead seals on the beach. Eight boats were struck.

A black hunter, Talbot, from the schooner Webster, jumped from the bow in fright and was drowned. Hunter Vatru, from the Annie, was shot dead. All the boats got aboard the schooners safely and lay out five miles from shore, considerably scattered.

At 5 o'clock the same evening a Russian warship made for them and Captain McLean of the Hamilton Lewis, with the object of giving the other schooners time to get away, ran straight for and dodged the vessel. It was two hours before the Russians got him and by that time the other vessels had got away. The Hamilton Lewis was towed to the island.

All hunters on the San Diego express grave fears as to the probable fate of the crew, as they say several shots were fired at the Russians in the skirmish that morning and probably some soldiers were killed.

The Aita reports that the Oscar and Hattie were chased in Behring sea by the Mohican for 24 hours for the purpose of warning them out. They got away and then made back for Behring sea. Three men—Waiters, Anderson and Gray—died of sickness on the San Diego on the voyage and were buried at sea.

MRS. THERESA FAIR DEAD.

San Francisco, Sept. 14.—Mrs. Theresa Fair, divorced wife of ex-Senator Fair, died last night of fatty degeneration of the heart. She had been ill several days. Senator and Mrs. Fair were married in 1861. In 1885 Mrs. Fair began divorce proceedings, alleging adultery. No defense was made and the divorce was granted. Mrs. Fair received from the ex-senator $4,250,000 in securities and a large amount of valuable real estate. She leaves four children. Her eldest daughter, Theresa, was married to Herman Ulrichs, of New York, last year.

LOST IN THE STORM.

Philadelphia, Sept. 14.—It is feared by the owners of the schooner Harbeson Hickman, which sailed from Matanzas July 28 for St. Pierre, Martinique, that the vessel has been wrecked in the recent cyclone which prevailed on the island of Martinique. She is long overdue.

The French bark Paulet Pauline from this port July 1 for Sables D'Olonne, laden with naphtha has not since been heard of, and is believed to have foundered with all hands on board.

PLOT TO RESCUE ALMY.

Manchester Officials Growing Alarmed.

They Think the Murderer Has Friends Inside and Outside the Jail.

Manchester, Sept. 14.—It is the opinion of some of the state officials here that a few of Almy's or Abbott's old-time confederates are plotting to aid the murderer to escape from the county jail.

Harry Preble, who was recently arrested for several small forgeries and who now occupies a cell in the same building with Almy, is thought to be one of those most interested in the plot.

Preble pretends to know nothing about the murder, but many incidents lead the officers to believe that he had some connection with Almy in former days, and that he intentionally courted arrest and imprisonment in order to help his old-time companion.

Now that he is in jail he seems cheerful and contented, and though he can easily secure bail, he makes no attempt to do so.

Since his imprisonment he has sent telegrams to men in Springfield, Montreal and Boston. All these telegrams have read: "Trouble. Answer at once." "Trouble. Come at once." All have been signed "J. C."

The scheme most likely to be attempted, from the fact that Preble remains in his cell, is for these confederates to call at the jail to see Preble and when all appeared to be in readiness, to attack Almy's guard and then all would work out the best method for escape. As the murderer has been improving rapidly and his wounded leg is nearly healed he will be able in a short time to walk.

A theory which also appears plausible in the conspiracy to assist in the escape of Almy is that Preble had confederates now located in Nashua and Concord to whom answers to the telegrams sent to Montreal and Springfield will be forwarded and all of the parties will meet in this city at a certain time to gain admission to the jail, with the pretention that they desire to aid in getting bail for Preble.

Another Base Ball Club Forced to Quit.

Will the Lesson of High Salaries and Losses Ever be Learned by the People.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 14.—The Omaha base ball team disbanded here last night. The club has been losing money ever since it reorganized, and the association got tired of supporting it. All the players were released. Stein and Dungan will probably sign with Kansas City. Denver, Kansas City and Sioux City will probably fight it out to the end of the series to decide which club shall float the Western association pennant.

ABOUT THE GRAND ARMY.

Talk With Col. Benjamin F. Hawkes.

He Recalls Incidents of the Body's Formation.

A Proposition on Foot to Erect a Monument to the Memory of Major Stephenson.

Washington, Sept. 14.—One of the eight original Grand Army men is a resident of this city. He is Col. B. F. Hawkes, now a clerk in the pension office. The Grand Army of the Republic, he said yesterday, owes its existence to Maj. Stephenson, of Illinois, who conceived the idea that has resulted in one of the grandest organizations of ex-military men the world has ever known.

During the war, while at Vicksburg, he spoke of the idea that he was even then considering, and when the first meeting was held he prophesied the day would come when its membership would be numbered by thousands.

The eight original G. A. R. men were Maj. Stephenson, major on the staff of Gen. Halbert E. Payne; Col. Snyder, at that time adjutant-general on the staff of Gov. Oglesby, of Illinois; Maj. H. E. Howe, judge advocate of the district of Illinois; Capt. George W. Carter, adjutant-general on Gen. Paine's staff; Maj. Webber, the first adjutant-general of the Grand Army; Col. B. F. Hawkes, adjutant-general on the staff of Gen. Oaks, paymaster-general, U. S. A., for the district of Illinois; Capt. B. F. Smith, adjutant-general to Gen. Cook, and Gen. John Cook, commanding the district of Illinois.

It was in November, 1865, that these eight men met in one of the rooms of the capitol at Springfield and held the first meeting. There were so many obstacles in the way at Springfield that it was feared the ritual would be made public if an attempt was made to have it printed there.

Accordingly it was sent to Decatur to an old soldier who was publishing a paper, and he issued it in pamphlet form. In some way a copy was stolen from his office, and a post was organized in Decatur. This was the first post of the Grand Army of the Republic actually organized in the United States, although, as Col. Hawkes says, the eight original men who prepared the ritual had been mustered in and really formed the first Grand Army post.

The first meeting of the Grand Army as a body was held May 7, 1866, in the house of representatives at Springfield, Ills., and was presided over by Maj. Walton, of the United States Volunteers. Of the eight men named above but three—Messrs. Howe, Snyder, and Hawkes—are now living.

After the first meeting Col. Snyder, Col. Hawkes, and Maj. Howe revised the ritual of the G. A. R. prepared by Maj. Stephenson, and a number of ex-soldiers were mustered in by him at Springfield in February, 1866.

After that special order No. 2 was issued, authorizing Maj. Howe to organize posts in Ohio, and special order No. 3, authorizing Col. B. F. Hawkes, of the District of Columbia, to go into the same state and engage in the work of organization.

September 26, 1866, a large convention of ex-soldiers and sailors was held in Pittsburg, and Col Hawkes and Maj. Howe were instructed by Maj. Stephenson to request comrades of the Ohio G. A. R. and other ex-soldiers to recommend some comrade of the G. A. R. to be appointed commander of the provisional department of Ohio.

In accordance with this recommendation Col. B. F. Potts, afterward governor of Montana, was made commander. Col. Hawkes and Maj. Howe, as aid-de-camps on his staff, worked vigorously organizing posts, so that by the next January Gen. Potts was able to report at the first Ohio department convention a total of 125 posts.

Justice has not been done the founder of the Grand Army of the Republic, Maj. Stephenson, according to a recent letter of Maj. Howe. He was in 1878 discouraged and almost despairing as to the future of the Grand Army. No stone tells where he sleeps in Rose Hill Cemetery, Petersburg, Ill. Maj. Stephenson lost a lucrative practice as a physician and surgeon, surrendering all for the Grand Army, and died its creditor. He left a widow and two daughters, who are dependent on a widow's pension and their manual labor for their support.

The coming national encampment, which will witness the crowning glory of the organization which Maj. Stephenson founded, would be a fitting time, Maj. Howe thinks, not only to arrange for the erection of a handsome monument to his memory, but to provide a fund for the care of his widow and his children.

PORTAGE COUNTY.

The Democrats Indorse a People's Party Representative.

Ravenna, O., Sept. 14.—The democrats of Portage county held their convention Saturday for the purpose of nominating candidates for the different county offices.

An exciting time was had over the nomination for representative, the names before the convention being A. H. Tidball and I. T. Nelson.

The people's party candidate, Tidball, received the nomination on the first ballot.

The other officers were: Treasurer, D. W. Goss; recorder, George A. Barber; commissioner, Frank Haughawout; infirmary director, Edwin Holden. The following resolutions were adopted:

1. We heartily indorse the platform adopted by the democratic state convention, held at Cleveland, O., on July 16 and 17, 1891, and we hereby pledge our zealous and undivided support to the ticket then and there placed in nomination, as well as the ticket this day to be placed in nomination by this convention.

2. We welcome to the field of American politics the newly organized opposition to the criminal doctrine of high protective tariff and unnecessary and oppressive taxation measures which have been opposed and contended against by the democratic party ever since its organization.

THE FIGHT GOES ON.

Interesting Meeting Being Held in Zanesville.

Hovey and Foraker Will Be Downed If Sherman Has to "Bust the Machine."

Zanesville, O., Sept. 14.—The republican county central committee met again Saturday afternoon to make the third attempt to elect a chairman of the executive committee. They wrangled and jangled and quarreled from 2:30 p. m. to 6:30, without succeeding in an election, when an adjournment was taken.

The Sherman and Foraker forces are evenly divided, and the bitterness of the contest is intensified with every meeting. A. A. Frazier is the Sherman candidate. He is a member of the committee, and he has to vote for himself in order to divide the committee evenly. C. U. Shryock is the Foraker candidate, but several new names were sprung during the balloting.

Col. Milt Hovey, the George B. Cox of Zanesville, led the Foraker forces. Will Miller, of Dresden, received the Sherman support several times, and Davy Zimmer, of this city, received the solid Foraker vote nearly every time, Shryock being kept in the background.

The Sherman men claim that they will yet succeed, while the Forakerites throw it in their teeth that they (the Shermans) are relying on money to seduce one of the ex-governor's supporters.

Altogether, the situation is a very critical one for the g. o. p. in Muskingum county, and, as one of Sherman's men said this evening: "We will down Hovey and Foraker or bust the d—d machine."

A DISMAL FAILURE.

Seneca County People are Wise Enough.

They Refuse to Go to a Hall and Hear Ex-Governor Humphreys Talk.

Tiffin, O., Sept. 14.—The republican rally at Noble's opera house, Saturday afternoon, to be addressed by Ex Governor Humphrey, of Kansas, did not materialize.

The speaker was present, and the usual Saturday throng of farmers and workingmen, enjoying their half holiday, were on the streets, and a band stationed in front of the opera house frantically fretted the atmosphere in their endeavors to raise a crowd.

Notwithstanding this there were but 20 persons in the house by actual count, and no speaking was done.

The night meeting, addressed by Mr. Hanback, of Kansas, was almost as conspicuous a failure as the afternoon fiasco. There was just 105 persons in the hall, including the speaker.

A prohibition audience on an adjoining corner, addressed by Hon. A. G. Wolfenbarger, of Kansas, numbered nearly five hundred.

Washington, Sept. 14.—Marquis Imperiali, Italian charge d' affaires at Washington, has informed Dr. T. S. Verdi, president of the Italio-American committee for the promotion of the Columbian exhibition, that the Italian ministry has acknowledged the receipt of the resolutions adopted at a meeting of Italio-Americans held in Washington on July 17, requesting the Italian government to officially participate in said exhibition, and that in answer the Italian ministry says that "in pursuance of a principle adopted long ago the Italian government declines to officially participate in any international exhibition, that for that reason the government declined the invitation to officially participate in the French exhibition held in Paris in 1889, and that the refusal to be officially represented at the Columbian exhibition is in consequence of said rule never before departed from, which should not be interpreted as an act of hostility towards a great enterprise or an effort to prevent the Italians from exhibiting.

That, on the contrary, the government, wishing the success of the Columbian exhibition, has given the widest publicity to the invitation of its committee and will do all in its power to assist such of its citizens as desire to exhibit.

HAD A ROUGH EXPERIENCE.

The Pilot Boat Washington Returns.

Capsized at Sea, With Her Spars Gone, She Rides Out the Gale and Comes Into Port.

New York, Sept. 14.—The pilot boat Washington, the last of the pilot fleet that it was feared was lost in the recent cyclone, arrived here yesterday in tow.

Her officers and crew report a terrible experience during the storm, the vessel being thrown on her beam ends and her masts going by the board. She weathered the storm, however, and when it broke jury masts were rigged and the vessel steered for port.

She was met by another pilot boat which towed her in. Except for the loss of the masts the Washington is none the worse for her severe handling in the storm.

THE SENATORIAL RUMPUS

Cappeller's Open Fight Against Sherman.

Many People are Following the Wiley William.

Chairman Hahn Raising Funds to Buy More Foreign Tin Campaign Badges for McKinley.

Cincinnati, Sept. 14.—A Mansfield special to the Enquirer tells the following interesting tale:

This pretty little city is the home of three men who just now, are taking prominent parts in republican state politics—Senator John Sherman, Wm. M. Hahn and last, but not least, the wily W. S. Cappeller.

One cannot talk much politics in Mansfield but the names of these men enter somewhere or other, and just now the whole political topic is the senatorial race between Sherman and Foraker. Hahn is not in position to take sides. The Sherman men say he for Foraker, and the Foraker men say he is for Sherman, while Hahn says nothing.

The Chairman is having a hard time of it making the government office-holders put up, and the story goes that he and Nels Ozier, the postmaster here, had a big row not long ago about this very thing.

In this appointment the old soldiers were turned down as usual by Sherman. Hahn was for a soldier, and consequently he bears down hard on the winner when he needs campaign funds. Ozier and his men try to get behind the civil service law, but Hahn won't have it. If there is as big a kick all over the state as Hahn had in this case he is having a hard time of it.

Wherever William S. Cappeller is, there will be found more or less politics and his open opposition to Sherman, as expressed some days ago while he was in Columbus, set the boys here to talking. They never supposed Cappeller would take so bold a stand. And now that they have found a leader the anti-Sherman fellows are becoming more open.

The Sherman men are not letting any time glide by either, and it has slipped out that a daily paper is to be started by them to down Cappeller's paper, the News, and be an organ through which the senator can give vent to his desires and keep even with the Foraker procession.

I asked a leading republican how it was Cappeller could not get along with the Sherman people. He said: "There are several reasons, and the story is long. Cappeller has tried to be friendly to Sherman ever since he has been here, but he doesn't seem to have made a success of it.

"Sherman has stood by the opposition paper even after it was read out of the party by the county executive committee, and he appointed its two proprietors to good fat offices.

"His friends have constantly tried to bar Cappeller from local politics, and they have not made a success at that. Why, at the district senatorial convention held a couple weeks ago at Lodi, they gum-shoed their way to a dark room, and came very near shutting Cappeller out of the convention entirely, but Cap got on in time, and to get even, bobbed up in the convention as a delegate, and made a speech against the Sherman indorsement resolutions, and now, headed by Web Wilson, the Sherman faction is trying to raise enough money to kill Cappeller's paper."

"How does Sherman take all this?"

"Well, he dosen't like it, of course, but his friends are responsible for the present state of affairs. I understand he has said he had nothing against Cappeller, and I hear he is trying to patch up a truce through mutual friends, but the starting of an opposition paper will not help matters any.

"Senator Sherman has never done anything for Mansfield that any body knows of, and the younger element is not for him very hard. Some of the older men are also getting weary of holding up the Sherman banner, and these men all find room to flock around the Foraker flagstaff.

"Cappeller has some enemies here in his party, and they are all adherents of Sherman; nevertheless, I have never seen anything against the senator in Cappeller's paper. The other day on the street I was present when an old friend of Sherman's undertook to comb down Cappeller for his expressions as published in an Enquirer interview.

"Among other things the old friend said that Cappeller could not afford to antagonize Sherman. Cap replied that he had no objections to anybody being for Sherman, but that he was for his friends always, and when the day came that he could not afford to be for his friends he did not want any."

The fight for the United States senatorship is called the Sherman-Foraker fight, but in Mansfield it is between Sherman and Cappeller, with the odds in favor of the suave Cappeller, who is a great mixer among the town people, and the county folks as well. For 35 years Sherman has distributed the federal patronage of Ohio. In that time he has disappointed, displeased and turned down a great many good people.

These are to be found in every county and voting district in the state, and for the first time in his political history there is open, outspoken opposition. Nor does it stop with the disappointed placehunters.

A feeling also exists that will not down that Sherman and his friends have in some way contributed to the election of Thurman, Pendleton, Payne and Brice; that he is losing the state every sixth year to the republicans, and in that way, by design, it gave the entire federal patronage of the state to Sherman.

It is also history that the Foraker people believe Sherman and his immediate friends did not vote for the governor two years ago. Certain it is that the postmaster, pension examiner and others holding places under Sherman did not support Foraker the last time.

The old charge of treachery at Chicago is occasionally referred to here by Sherman men, which is promptly answered by the younger Foraker followers that Sherman never had his state solid in a national convention until Foraker and his followers went to the front for him and went to their political death holding up his banner.

Mansfield has long wanted a public building and Sherman's friends find it difficult to apologize for his neglect of his own town, while such places as Lima, Canton and Akron are favored with postoffice buildings that are ornamental. A few years ago he donated, with others, some of his useless land for a park, which more than doubled the value on his remaining large acreage.

In the little park in the center of the city are two monuments, one donated by ex-Congressman Geddes, the other by the present member, Hon. M. D. Harter. The last-named is a soldier's monument, in connection with which there is a story told me that a subscription paper was prepared, and presented to Sherman to start the contribution with a good round sum; it is said the senator subscribed $5. This reaching Mr. Harter's ears, so enraged him that he stopped further canvassing, ordered and paid for the monument himself. As another instance of the senator's hold-on-to-his-dollars capacity, he contributed only $5 to the committee in the Garfield campaign of 1880. This can be vouched for by Mr. Wm. Hahn. But circumstances sometimes make queer changes, and the senator is letting go fast enough now. Several local politicians are now on his pay-roll to the tune of $10 or $20 per day, and have been making quiet trips to districts where things look shaky for the senator and there assisting delegates to nominate Shermen men for the next general assembly. This swells the expense account much higher. This is all so new for the senator at so early a stage in the game, and the silver is departing from him with such regularity and extent, that he takes it for his subject in his speeches, and talks for hours on how much he thinks of the silver he has made.

It is very natural to talk most of loved "ones" on the eve of their departure forever, and John will be excused for dwelling thus lengthy on his "tens" and "twenties."

NIAGARA'S GREAT RIVAL.

Grand Falls Not in It by Comparison.

Two Members of the Bowdoin College Expedition Manage to Reach the Spot.

Port Hawkesbury, C. B., Sept. 14.—The crowning point of the Bowdoin college expedition was reached September 1 as chronicled in these dispatches, by the return of the party sent out to discover the truth of the legendary accounts of the Grand falls.

The party of four men, all graduates of the college, headed by Mr. Austin Carey, left their schooner on Sunday, July 26. On August 8 they reached a point a few miles in advance of the furthest point reached by Mr. Holme in 1888.

At this point, on account of a disabled arm, Mr. Young and a companion were obliged to turn back, reaching Rigolet on August 21.

Messrs. Carey and Cole proceeded towards the falls, which has been reported to be distant 50 miles. On August 13, after a three days' tramp, their labors were rewarded by a deafening roar in the distance. Their provisions were now nearly gone, stores having been exhausted on the way up, but they pushed resolutely on to the height of the plateau called "The Height of Land."

It is this plateau which is the source of the stream, and the descent of the river to the sea forms the fall and rapids. The spray of the falls was visible for 30 miles.

From the falls the water flows through a canyon formed of archean rock, the sides of which rise to a height of 500 feet and are heavily wooded at the top.

The height of the falls has been grossly exaggerated, and while presenting a grand and beautiful sight, measure only 200 feet in a perpendicular fall, the rapids leading to this fall increasing the total altitude of the falls to 500 feet.

Above the falls the average width of the river is 500 yards, narrowing until it reaches the falls to a width of only 50 yards, then it plunges over the rapids and falls into the narrow gorge below.

Mr. Cole descended to the foot of the falls and succeeded in obtaining some good photographs of them. Having completed the observations of the falls they kept on a few miles above to the height of land, where, from a peak christened by them "Mount Hyde-Bowdoin," they had a fine prospect of the surrounding country.

At this point, their provisions being about all gone, they set out for a return. On reaching the spot where they left their boat they found a camp fire which they had built and consumed the boat and with it their whole stock of provisions and a gun.

Their condition was now somewhat critical. Three hundred miles on a river heretofore unexplored, with no boat, no help and no provisions until they should reach their first cache, the outlook was one to blanch all but the stoutest hearts. They set bravely to work, however, and with a small hatchet for their only implement, constructed a small raft, binding the logs together with spruce roots.

On rafts made in this way they traversed 300 odd miles to the mouth of the river, enduring the greatest hardships. Their only weapon was a small revolver, with which they shot a few squirrels, making a meal of one such animal.

On the way down five different rafts were constructed, the making of which in their wasted condition, consumed a great amount of time and energy. They reached the vessel September 1 and received a royal welcome from their friends. The falls which they have discovered are reported to have been seen by two employes of the Hudson Bay company, but no authentic account of any such discovery has been given.

The successful result of the expedition is due wholly to the heroic efforts of Messrs. Carey and Cole, and Bowdoin college may well be congratulated by her sister colleges for the addition which she has made to the heretofore scant knowledge of the geography of Labrador.

THE MEXICAN NORTHERN.

New York, Sept. 14.—Recently published reports to the effect that the New York property of the Mexican Northern railway company has been seized by the sheriff as a result of a suit brought by the Mexican National Construction company are inaccurate. The respective positions in this suit and seizure should be reversed. The fact is that the Mexican Northern railway company is the successful plaintiff in the action and it is the property of the construction company that has been seized. There are no suits or financial complications of any nature against the Mexican Northern railway company.

BOUGHT FOR THREE MILLION.

Mays Landing, N. J., Sept. 14.—A deed was filed in the county clerk's office on Saturday conveying about 35,000 acres of land to the Industrial Land and Development company, a syndicate of New York capitalists. The consideration is $3,199,600.

CHEATING IN HORSE BLANKETS

Nearly every pattern of 5/A Horse Blanket is imitated in color and style. In most cases the imitation looks just as good as the genuine, but it hasn't the warp threads, and so lacks strength, and while it sells for only a little less than the genuine it isn't worth one-half as much. The fact that 5/A Horse Blankets are copied is strong evidence that they are THE STANDARD, and every buyer should see that the 5/A trade mark is sewed on the inside of the Blanket.

IMPROVEMENTS AT MIDDLE BASS.

Mr. Matthew Shoemaker some time ago refitted his cottage at Middle Bass in a very handsome manner. Mr. F. P. Isherwood's cottage, which was the first one on the island, is adjoining that of Mr. Shoemaker, and Mr. Isherwood felt that by improving so nicely, Mr. Shoemaker had played the right bower upon him. Not wishing to be outdone, he told Mr. Shoemaker that he would play the jolly joker on him soon, and last week the cottage was moved away, and the contract will be let this week for a very handsome one to take its place. Plans have been prepared by Architect Fallis and when the work is completed it will be the handsomest cottage on the island. Mr. Oliver Rogers also has lumber and everything on the ground for the erection of a cottage for himself, which will be put up immediately.

TOO MANY WIVES

Cause Trouble for Mr. Charle Thomas Chamberlain.

The Appearance of a Deserted Wife Shows Him Up and He Is Landed in the Police Station.

Another case of a wife deserted for the smiles of another woman was brought to light here Saturday, by the runaway husband and his mistress being confronted by the injured wife.

Charles Thomas Chamberlain, the man who was too free with his affections, is now behind the bars at the police station, together with the woman for whom he deserted his wife.

Chamberlain lived with his wife at Jackson, Mich., where he was conducting a successful moving and trucking business. His wife bore him eight children, but all are now dead except a boy of 8 years.

About a year ago Chamberlain became infatuated with another woman who had lived at their house for a while, and together they left that city, leaving the frightful child and wife without any means of support.

They traveled about for a few weeks and finally located in Toledo. Here he obtained employment with the Moreon Truck company, and they lived at 26 Michigan street, where Chamberlain passed the woman off as his wife. Since their advent in this city a child was born to them, which is now five months old.

On Saturday evening Mrs. Chamberlain came to this city to find her husband, as she had learned that he was living in this city with another woman. She discovered his residence and went there to plead with him to return to her. Chamberlain was not at home and she was met at the door by the woman who had usurped her place and who had a child in her arms.

With this evidence of her husband's perfidy the wife went to the police station and told her story to Capt. O'Dwyer. She stayed at the station over night, as she had no money to pay for lodging, and on Sunday the case was given to Humane Agent France. Mrs. Chamberlain was taken to the New York house, where she is now stopping. Chamberlain was arrested Sunday evening, and is now locked up at the police station, charged with abandoning child. His mistress was arrested this morning.

Mrs. Chamberlain is a frail appearing woman of middle age, and almost broken down in health from her troubles. She is much more grieved than indignant at the wrong doings and mistreatment of her husband. Her story is pitiful, and the woman seems almost heart broken. She states that after Chamberlain left her she was obliged to work in a factory at Jackson to support herself and child, but she was not strong enough to stand the labor. She found out that her husband was living in Toledo and she came here with the intention of getting him to return home or at least give her some money with which to support their child. She stated that she was willing to forgive him if he would return and support her. She was also willing to take the child which had been born to him by the other woman and take care of it. One of her own children, an infant, died since she was deserted by Chamberlain.

ON A TERRIBLE CHARGE.

The Grossest of Crime Committed in a New York Church.

New York, Sept. 14.—Robert Bell, assistant sexton of the Calvary Episcopal church in Fourth avenue, was arraigned to-day charged with debauching six Jewish girls in the church. The girls confessed to detectives of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children that Bell had been carrying on his nefarious practices for over a year. Two of the girls were with him in the church when he was arrested yesterday. Two of his victims say he made them drunk with communion wine and the others he seduced with presents. Bell refused to answer questions and the case was adjourned until Wednesday.

MADE AN ASSIGNMENT.

Cincinnati, Sept. 14.—Metcalf & Mackey company, carriage manufacturers, located at the southwest corner of Second and John streets, assigned this morning with liabilities $70,000; assets $50,000. The largest creditors are Cincinnati and Moline, Ill., firms. No preferences.

HAS WAR COMMENCED?

England Takes Possession of Mitylene,

An Island Close to the Dardanelles.

Prices on the Foreign Bourses Weakened This Morning in Consequence of the Report.

London, Sept. 14.—A Constantinople dispatch says that a detachment of blue jackets and marines from a British ironclad accompanied by a battery of light field pieces and several gatling guns was yesterday morning landed at Sigri, on the island of Mitylene.

The detachment formally occupied the place in the name of the Britannic majesty. There is an excellent harbor at Sigri, and it is supposed that the British officers at Mitylene intend to fortify the island and to make it a coaling station and rendezvous for the British Mediterranean squadron.

Financial Circles Excited.

Paris, Sept. 14.—Uneasiness exists in French diplomatic and financial circles because of the recept of a dispatch announcing that Sigri, on the west coast of the island of Mitylene, an island belonging to Turkey, near the coast of Asia Minor, and within easy steaming distance of the Dardanelles, has been occupied by a detachment of British troops or marines, landed there from a British ironclad. No details have been received and the report lacks confirmation.

When the bourse opened here there was a general weakening of prices by reason of the foregoing reported action of the British government.

Mitylene island is 25 miles distant from the Hellespont, and has an area of 276 square miles and a population of 40,000.

Prices Weakened.

Berlin, Sept. 14.—Prices on the bours weakened this morning on a report that a port on the island of Mitylene had been seized by a British naval force.

WHEN JIM GETS BACK,

And Harrison is Also at the White House.

Then the Secretary of State Will be Made to Show His Hand in Presidential Matters.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14.—W. C. MacB. wires his paper the following: That Secretary Blaine will return to his official duties is now assured. That his health is fairly regained, his over-activity is evidence.

In the mutations of his entire political history, Mr. Blaine has never held such a public relation as now. The clamor to make him the leader of his party is more of gravitation than any design of his own: what his plans may be, how they will be made public, is of the liveliest interest.

When President Harrison, with much reluctance, called Mr. Blaine into his cabinet he did it with misgivings. He was fearful of that which is now the fact, that the premier might overshadow the king. That which three years ago he foresaw is now as writ. The president finds his own personality totally eclipsed, and his future depends upon the action or even caprice of one within his official family.

When Mr. Blaine returns here the president will have resumed his official residence. The dull, dreary days of summer will have been supplemented with the invigorating tone of the autumnal months.

The time will have come when political intrigue and excitement will be at the fullest play. The president, quite naturally, will care to know upon what solid ground he stands. Mr. Blaine will then be put upon the disclosure. His yea or nay upon the interesting question of the presidency can hardly be restrained.

When Blaine gets here a problem will have been solved. He will either remain in the cabinet or quickly get out of it. The sense of honor born of men could not constrain him to sit at the able at which another claimed to be the McGregor.

Nor can Mr. Blaine again play with a convention the game of hide and seek. In those national gatherings he has transferred his followers as a mere bellwether, but he can not do it again. The contingent clamoring for his nomination are faithful. They prefer, however, to choose their own alternative rather than have the candidate whose governing motive heretofore has been only to provide for himself.

The best information, though, is that Mr. Blaine will stand by Harrison. In doing so, however, he will exact definite terms. He will insist upon the absolute direction of the state department, with the control unfettered of its patronage. He is now in a position where he can make such demand. The president likewise in in straits where he can ill refuse it. Such a contract would leave the men glaring at each other with genuine hate, each taking care of himself.

PERSONAL MENTION.

W. J. Moss, of Findlay, was in the city to-day.

J. V. Clement is at the Metropolitan hotel, New York.

Miss Georgia Haws, of Detroit, is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Haigh.

J. E. Phelps and wife who have been visiting at St. Paul, Minn., are expected home to-day.

Messrs. James Secor, J. W. Cummings and T. W. Childs went down on the City of Toledo, yesterday, for a few days' fishing sport.

Mrs. Kelleher of Detroit, Mrs. Sullivan, Mrs. Hargrove and Mrs. Meehan, of Andrews, Ind., are visiting with James Casey of Oliver street.

Mr. H. D. Pierce, of Chicago, formerly of Toledo, is in the city to-day exchanging greetings with old friends. He is the same genial, whole-souled fellow.

Mrs. Anderson and daughter, of Omaha Neb., who have been visiting E. P. Raymond and family, left last evening for Boston, where Miss Anderson will enter college.

The friends of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Cochran will be very sorry to learn they are talking of moving to Wheeling, W. V. It is to be hoped, however, they will not decide to do so.

E. A. Rood, the grocer and fruit dealer, left on the 6 o'clock train this morning for Sycamore and Catawba Island to arrange for a supply of peaches and plums from that famous section for fine fruit.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Tillinghast of Eleventh street entertained several friends at Sunday dinner. Among those present were Miss Rose Clouse and Miss Genie Baldwin. The company were highly entertained with music from their guests.

WILL BE SHOCKED.

London, Sept. 14.—The Telegraph to-day says that when the English speaking race fully learns of the nature and extent of the Canadian scandals in high official places they will be filled with sorrow and shame.

FREIGHT WRECK.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 14.—A disastrous freight wreck occurred on the Middle division of the Pennsylvania railroad east of Altoona, early this morning. Two engines and seven freight cars were thrown over an embankment and totally demolished. One of the engineers is said to have received serious injuries. Both tracks were blocked four hours. Full particulars have not yet been obtained.

EQUALIZING RATES.

Detroit and Toledo Insurance Men Meet and Establish a Fixed Schedule.

This afternoon a committee representing the marine insurance agencies of Detroit met with a like committee from similar insurance agencies at Pope & Dodge's office, Produce Exchange, with a view of establishing a fixed schedule of insurance rates on grain between Toledo and Buffalo.

Heretofore the rate has been 20 cents on $100 from Toledo and 30 cents on $100 from Detroit.

It has been decided to make the rate the same from both ports.

SPENT HIS GELT.

Dr. Schweiss Says that He Has Been Turned Down by His Friends.

Dr. Franz Joseph Schweiss, the well-known physician of this city, who is actively engaged in making an independent canvass for governor, complains bitterly of the way he has been treated. The fact is, the doctor has been slain in the house of his friends, if his statements are true.

He visited the BEE office this morning and poured forth a pitiful tale of treachery and political ingratitude.

He asserts that some time ago he entrusted his company's fund to certain gentlemen in the city. It now transpires that his money has been spent in other ways than in procuring votes for the doctor. He says that Herman Baumbach has also sold him out, refusing longer to support him, and that he has no further use for the Ninth ward statesman. This is tough on Herman, but BEE readers have the doctor's word that it is true.

NEW YORK DEMOCRATS,

The Ticket Will Be Flower and Sheehan.

The Name of Jones, Who Pays the Freight, Will Not Be Presented to the Convention.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 14.—Gov. Hill says "Mr. Sheehan can be nominated if he wants the place; I shall not oppose him." It is undoubted that Hill advised Sheehan to withdraw, but simply requested it and did not demand it. His idea was that Mr. Sheehan was more useful on the state committee than on the state ticket. Hon. Richard Croker, the Tammany leader, says:

"Tammany is for Sheehan. An objection to him will create discord and serious trouble."

The ticket looks like Flower for governor, Sheehan for lieutenant-governor, and Rosendale or Campbell for comptroller. Lieut.-Gov. Jones will not be at Saratoga, and his name will not be presented at the convention. This was settled at a conference at Binghamton yesterday.

A THRIVING PARISH.

St. Mark's Celebrates Its First Anniversary Last Evening Appropriately.

It is true enough that great oaks from little acorns grow, for from a small mission started three years ago over the car barns on Ashland avenue, there has been developed an energetic and thriving church and congregation, that of St. Mark's, on Collingwood avenue, where last evening the anniversary of the dedication was appropriately observed.

The service was very interesting and was greatly enhanced by the singing of the double quartette choir, composed of Mrs. Thos. Biddle, Mrs. Ed Austin, Miss Marks, Miss Basler and Messrs Baumgardner, Stough, Williams and Parker. Miss Irene Jordan presided at the organ. Rev. Watt delivered an eloquent sermon and the report of the finance committee was read, showing that the $3,000 church was all paid for with the exception of $1,000, and all without outside assistance. The church has always been self-supporting. Rev. Watt has worked hard, and has been ably assisted in his labors by the members of the congregation.

During June, 1890, it was carefully estimated that 50 families were interested in the church. At present Rev. Watt has 180 families on his calling list, and the number is weekly increasing.

FORAKER'S FRIENDS HAPPY

They Claim to Have Sherman Knocked Out.

One of the Ex-Governor's Henchmen Returns From a Pilgrimage With Encouraging Reports.

Columbus, O., Sept. 14.—One of ex-Gov. Foraker's most intimate confidential friends and admirers and his chief missionary returned Saturday from his regular weekly pilgrimage in the state to rest over Sunday.

"Sherman isn't in it at all," he said.

"What makes you think so?"

"The complexion of the republican nominations so far made for the legislature."

"How do they stand according to your observations?"

"Up to yesterday ten senators and forty-four representatives had been nominated who are sure to be elected—that is, reasonably sure. Fifty of the fifty-four will make it."

"How do they divide?"

"Six of the senators and twenty-nine of the representatives are absolutely pledged to Foraker, making thirty-five in all, or nearly two-thirds of the nominees."

"How many more senators and representatives in addition to these do you expect to elect?"

"Eight senators and sixteen or eighteen representatives."

"Then you expect to have seventy-eight on joint ballot?"

"It may be a few more; possibly a few less."

"And Governor Foraker only lacks a few votes of the nomination now?"

"Yes."

"Will he get the others—or enough to nominate?"

"He will get enough in Cuyahoga county alone, and five or six more in other places. Assuming that the republicans have seventy-eight on joint ballot, Foraker will have from forty-five to forty-eight of them. If the legislature is close on joint ballot his proportionate majority will be larger."

REPAIRING PERRY ST. BRIDGE.

Harbor Master Skeldon put a new 16 inch beam in one end of the Perry street bridge Saturday night after the street cars stopped running. He will put in another to-night, and persons desiring to cross the creek with teams after 12 o'clock should go to one of the other bridges. The old beams that are being replaced are badly decayed and broken.

DEATHS FROM CHOLERA.

Bombay, Sept. 14.—There have been 15 deaths from cholera recently on board the British warships Marathon and Redbreast, and not, as was at first reported, on board the British war vessel Blanche.

SMOKELESS POWDER.

Washington, Sept. 14.—The navy department, has made a very satisfactory trial of smokeless powder for small arms of American manufacture. The trial showed a speed of 2,180 feet per second with a pressure of 11.9 tons in the chamber.

GATHERING FOOD FOR THE POOR.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 14.—It the cathedral at Kazan enormous sacks have been placed for the receipt of contributions of food which will be sent to the famine stricken districts.

IN TRADING CIRCLES

Both at Our Home and Abroad.

Wheat Quotations for the Day—Price Current for Produce and Other Articles.

The market quotations in the BEE are compiled from United Press special dispatches and from reports received by the Toledo Produce Exchange, and specially arranged by Mr. Denison E. Smith, secretary of the Exchange.

OFFICE OF THE TOLEDO BEE, TOLEDO, O., Sept. 14.

London wheat market at opening steadily held, and more active; corn slow. Weather unsettled. Liverpool wheat firm and ½c higher; corn steady.

The receipts of wheat at seven principal western points to-day are 552,967 bu, compared with 469,131 bu on the same day last year.

Wheat stocks—Toledo increased 271,115 bu; New York increased 69,946 bu.

Shipments of wheat from Indiana last week equalled 800,000 bu. Previous week 1,360,000 bu. From April 1, the commencement of the crop year, to Sept. 12, 32,820,000 bu, compared with 13,200,000 bu in the corresponding period of 1890.

New York "Produce Ex. Weekly" says: The wheat on passage from India, August 28, estimated by Beerbohm at 6,792,000 bu, including 3,360,000 bu to the united kingdom and 3,432,000 bu to the continent. One year ago the quantity afloat from India was 5,782,000 bu, comprising 2,872,000 bu for the united kingdom and 1,000,000 bu for the continent.

Bradstreet's Report of Exports—Exports of wheat (and flour as wheat) for the week from United States ports aggregated 4,726,232 bu, or, including Montreal's shipments, 1,114,528 bu; the total from the United States last week was 5,441,566 bu. In the like week of 1890 (including Montreal) it was only 1,480,058 bu, and in 1889 (excluding Montreal) 1,426,552 bu, in 1888 2,739,424 bu and in 1887 it was 2,785,100 bu for the week.

The Duluth Circular says: The propeller E. C. Pope cleared from this port yesterday with 103,962 bu wheat for Buffalo, this being the largest cargo of wheat ever taken from our elevators.

Comment—We think it is the largest cargo ever shipped on the lakes.

The Wheat Supply.—The Financial Times, whose estimates of the wheat crop of the last two years have been extremely accurate, places the European wheat crop at 1,068,000 bu this year, a decrease of 263,000,000 bu as compared with 1890. The same paper gives the total net requirements of importing countries at 468,000,000 bu, and the total net surplus of exporting countries at 390,000,000, and concludes that the deficit in wheat, as well as the still larger deficit in the rye crop, must be made up by imports of corn and provisions from America.

The New York Financial Chronicle reports gross earnings of 77 roads for fourth week in August increased $432,522, or 4.69 per cent; 143 roads for month of August gained $2,892,942, or 7.21 per cent; 23 roads for first week in September increased $203,770, or 5.85 per cent.

Great Britain Wheat Estimate—London, Sept. 11.—The Times' annual estimate gives the condition of wheat in Great Britain Sept. 7 as 92, against 97½ Aug. 3, and says there are wide areas where the wheat has been beaten down, where it has grown in sheeks, and where the wind has caused it to shell to the extent of from two to ten bushels per acre. In all cases, whether the yield is or is not affected, there is a unanimous opinion that the wheat is of bad color.

Business failures in the United States and Canada for the week were 214, against 217 the previous week, and 193 for the corresponding week in 1890.

The receipts of wheat to-day at seven principal western points are 1,083,836 bu in excess of the corresponding Monday in 1890.

The export clearances Saturday were 573,776 bu of wheat and flour to an aggregate of 730,000 bu.

English markets as reported herein are firmer and higher for wheat.

The Weekly Government Crop Report imparts no new feature. It represents the corn crop as yet in danger of frost to a large extent, and as much of it will not be safe from that contingency before the 20th or 25th inst.

Excessive Estimates of Our Crops.

The highly esteemed authority upon finance, the New York Financial Chronicle," says: "Judging from the Government reports and from private accounts the yield of wheat must reach close to 600,000 bu, and that corn in the large producing section will be wholly out of damage in a week from date, September 12.

Comment.—Now that is unreasonable. There is nothing in Col. Dodge's language to justify such a conclusion. He says the crop indicates some increase on 1884, which was 512,000,000 bu. The corn, he says, will not all be safe before September 30.

Reports from the English crop, herein, corroborates the statements received by mail of very great loss by wet harvest weather. Mail correspondents say "worst crop for 31 years. All crops sprouting. Wheat, where laid is rotting. Where not cut is shedding, and where cut is sprouting."

Under above conditions, we feel justified in our repeated assertions that our capitalists and dealers seem oblivious to the situation, without the slightest appreciation of the strength of the American position. There never was a year when we had so supreme controll of the markets of the world, and we permit the enemies of wheat on both sides of the ocean to depress the price to suit themselves.

Regardless of the greatly increased movement in wheat at the north west, the markets in this country opened at an advance, and became stronger as trading progressed. The news to-day is bullish. London cables represent their crop to be a miserable one. A rumor has been sent over here that England has siezed a small island in the Dardanells, or Hellespont, which needs confirmation, and anyway, England is the last power to commit an act that will produce war. Prices of wheat have ruled 1c or more above Saturday, and closed with a firm look.

Corn is a shade higher east and much more so west. The New York September wheat closed 1 ¾c and December 1c up. September corn steady; October ¼c up. In Chicago December wheat gained 1¾c and October corn 2¼c.

In Toledo.

We have had a good day's business. Wheat futures were in good demand at improved prices, and both sides were looking for a trade. On the basis of December the market opened 1c up, and gained ¾c more at the close. September sold at 96c and closed at 97; October sold at 96 early; December sold at 81.00@1 01¾ and closed at $1 00¾, a gain of 1¾c. May sold at $1 06¾@1 07, a gain of 1¾c.

Cash wheat was in moderate request with sales of the offerings say 100,000 bu. No 2 soft at 95¾c to 97c, a gain of 1¾c; No 3 soft at 93¾c to 93c; No 4 soft at 87c; rejected No 1 at 83c; No 2 at 78c. We quoted No 1 rejected last Saturday at 86c, should have been 82c. No 1 white, 95c; No 2 white at 91c to 93¾c.

Corn—No 2 yellow at 64c.

Oats—No 2, 31c; No 3 at 29c; rejected at 25 to 25½c; No 2 white at 33c; No 3 white at 31c.

Rye steady and in good demand. No 2 at 91c; September, 91c; October, 90¾c; No 3 at 88½ to 89¼c closing at 88c.

Clover seed was weaker in price with a good business. Prime cash, $4 62@4 65; September at $4 55@4 60; October at $4 60; December at $4 62½@4 65. No. 3 at $4 40@4 40.

The visible supply of wheat increased last week 2,072,000 bu; corn 1,319,000 bu; oats 44,000. In the corresponding week in 1890 wheat increased 79,000 bu; corn decreased 120,000; oats increased 53,000 bu.

Supervisors to take charge of the primary election will be announced by the committee.
M. M. EPPSTEIN, Chairman.
E. T. VANFLEET, Secretary

So Jim Southard wants to be a senatorial statesman. Is he for or against Sherman?

If there is a job in the sale of tally sheets and poll books, it is a republican job, of course.

Prof. Foster predicts frosts this week and next. The republican freeze-up will occur in November.

The Providence Journal takes notice that it was "once Roscoe Conkling and Me-Too Platt, but now it is Thomas C. Platt and Me-Too Republican party."

Fellow democrats, everything depends upon the selection of a first-class ticket next Saturday. Do the work well and the people will elect the democratic ticket in November.

It is not at all singular the republicans do not like the new Ohio ballot law. Its practical operation will change the nominal republican majority in this state to a certain democratic majority.

Mr. Flickinger says he does not care very much about the office of representative, but that he expects to use it to pave the way to congress. Capt. J. Kent Hamilton and C. P. Griffin will please take notice and govern themselves accordingly.

Democrats will be glad to learn that after much persuasion Mr. McKinley has finally agreed to a joint debate with Gov. Campbell. The discussion will take place at Ada on October 8. Our Jimmy will be well prepared to meet and vanquish the Prince of High Taxers, the author of the present tariff monstrosity.

Unless the Powers preserve the Dardanelles from the passage of Russian war vessels the geographer may as well prepare to change the map of Europe. The czar will be prepared for offensive and defensive measures that will cause more nations than Turkey to tremble, and the Turk will indeed be a very "sick man of the east."

Gov. Campbell should not be in a great hurry to enter the campaign. His health is of more consequence to himself and his party just now. A few weeks in October will be sufficient to do up Major McKinley in excellent manner. Meanwhile, Col. Neal and Capt. Bargar and Capt. Cole can have the party in splendid trim for victory all along the line.

So candidate Flickinger says candidate Griffin is too much of a load to carry in this campaign and will be used as trading stock by candidate Flickinger. That is refreshing politics of an original order, and will cause candidate Griffin to smile. Trading stock. The Sherman and Foraker crowds are at each other early in the campaign.

The private business of Hon. Frank H. Hurd will prevent him from taking part in the present campaign. His thousands of friends in northwestern Ohio would, however, be gratified to have him make at least one speech before election. He could so grandly, and so easily, explain away the false theories of political economy advanced by the Prince of High Taxers, McKinley.

The republicans would quickly have their supreme court declare the Australian ballot law unconstitutional, were they not afraid of the indignation of the people that would follow. It is already evident that the new law will be beneficial to the democrats, hence the consuming desire of the republicans to get rid of it. But ballot reform has come to stay in this country, and it will be one of the most powerful agencies to purify and regulate the politics of the republic; and, as it is purified, so in degree will the republican party go from rapid decadence to absolute obscurity and oblivion. The party is already dangling upon a reminiscent thread.

The adoption of the evening service of the Episcopal Church by the First Congregational Church of Toledo is a churchly recognition of the stately form and deeply religious expression of prayer and invocation embodied in that service, which has commanded the admiration of the world for centuries. When the parishioner reads the service with prayerful heart and sincere conviction there are no words grander to the soul or more befitting the suppliant at the Throne of Mercy. Inspired minds must have written those prayers which human thought can not improve, and which the devout communicant never tires to repeat. It is the sweet old story richly told, and the evening devotions seem brighter and holier when embellished with such pure-gold words as are found in the Book of Common Prayer of the Episcopal Church.

The following communication printed in the New York Tribune, Mr. Halstead calls a singularly worded article:

"To the Editor of the Tribune:

"Sir—This morning you report me as saying: 'But, if it is a fight between those two and Sherman does not win, Foraker will not.' I did not intend to say that, but that the contest for senator was not necessarily confined to those two; that the failure of either did not necessarily mean the success of the other. No one conversant with Ohio politics would hazard the statement that Governor Foraker could not under any circumstances be elected senator, or that any such conditions existed as involved his defeat in that of Senator Sherman's any more than they would exclude Secretary Foster or Major McKinley from the race if Sherman did not succeed himself. JOHN H. DOYLE."

Not very singular. It probably means that a third candidate will appear in the field if the republicans accidentally secure the legislature, and that the name of the third candidate is Charles Foster.

If Major McKinley does not desire to forfeit the respect to which he personally is entitled he will attempt to have some one muzzle the fool correspondents who are reporting his campaign, and endeavoring to make it appear that all Ohio is tumbling down on its knees in worship of the tariff that taxes and robs.

Our esteemed morning neighbor has a dose of this foolishness, in a report on Major McKinley's Saturday speech in Logan county. According to this, when the Major got through talking democrats galore came to the stand to tell him they were his; when he went to the fair grounds another lot of converts surrounded him to tender him their votes on a platter; when he went to dinner, with an "influential democratic family," the "host, and the host's son, and some fourteen relatives, all life-long democrats, openly announced that they will vote the republican ticket from now on."

The ridiculousness of these wholesale claims is self-apparent, and comment is unnecessary. In justice the public should fall upon the verdant and callow correspondents who send out such slush as this and think that intelligent readers will accept it as news and as gospel. As a matter of fact, too much of such reporting puts the candidate and his campaign in an absurd position before the sober and sensible people whose suffrages he solicits.

Some good friend of Candidate McKinley should see to it that the next time McKinley's correspondent sends out the news of flopping voters he does not allow his fertile imagination to run riot to the extent of finding sixteen democrats, "life-long democrats," all in one family, and making all of them republicans "from now on" by a scratch of his pencil.

Such folly as this destroys every good the report of the meeting could do Major McKinley and his cause. It is as futile as it is foolish. The fool-killer should be called to Major McKinley's relief.

UNLOADING GRIFFIN.

Flickinger Says the Burden is Much Too Heavy.

The Defiance Statesman Unbosoms Himself,

Only to Find That He Has Put His Foot in it as Usual—"I Can Make a Dicker That Will Throw Griffin."

There is blood on the moon. Representative Griffin is after Flickinger with a club. The silver-haired hero of the Paulding insurrection has been putting his foot in it again. It happened in this wise:

Just after the last election a well-known Summit street banker, during a private conversation with Flickinger remarked that although he seldom or never scratched the straight republican ticket, he could not go either Foraker or Griffin.

Flickinger, as is his wont, chimed in and denounced both Foraker and Griffin right heartily.

A few days ago Flickinger appeared at the bank and requested a private interview with the banker. It was granted.

"Of course you are aware that I have been nominated for representative. Yes. Well, I have come to consult you on a little matter in which you may be interested."

The banker was all attention, and the candidate proceeded.

"Now it is fact, the proof of which I find every day, that Griffin is a load on our ticket, and there are times when I feel it will be almost impossible for us to pull through with him upon it."

The banker smelled a mouse, so to speak, and nodded approvingly with a view of drawing out more information.

"I know," continued Mr. Flickinger, "that there are hundreds of practical business men—good republicans like yourself—who have no earthly use for Griffin and will not vote for him. Something evidently has got to be done, but just what I am hardly prepared to say."

"Yes, something should be done promptly. Haven't you thought of something that could help?" said the banker, encouragingly.

"Well, yes; but I want to keep it quiet just yet. I can make a dicker whereby Griffin can be thrown."

"You mean trade him off, sell him out?" responded the banker, bluntly and somewhat indignantly. Flickinger was amazed.

"Why—why—I thought—you—you—voted against Griffin the last time," he stammered.

"I did; but I have changed my opinion regarding Griffin since then, and propose voting for him now."

Flickinger looked as if he had been struck by a train. He tried to hedge, but the banker would not have it. He denounced the proposed skin game and Flickinger is dodging Griffin as only Flickinger knows how to dodge.

Griffin's friends seem somehow rather to enjoy this new phase of Flickinger's political methods of campaigning.

In this connection the following from the New York Sun will be found interesting reading:

A correspondent of the New York Press say that he has seen a letter from Joseph B. Foraker, of Ohio, containing this passage about the Hon. John Sherman:

"There is a fight on hand which is very unfortunate for the state ticket. I did not commence it, and want my friends to understand that fact, without any possibility of misunderstanding, either for the present or the future. Sherman commenced it. He knows that I am ambitious to go to the senate, and he acknowledges that I have a right to entertain that ambition. Nevertheless, he has undertaken to get some of my friends away from me. I will not stand this, and have so notified Sherman. He must not make any fight for the senate during the pending campaign, and I will not. I have not mentioned the senatorship to any one, save to say that I will be a candidate. Sherman must also play fair. If he does not we will have to lock horns."

From the tone of this extraordinary communication any person unfamiliar with the history of Ohio politics would never suppose that the man who now warns the most eminent republican statesman of Ohio off the field in the name of harmony is the person who attempted, three years ago, to destroy Mr. Sherman's reputation by means of a forged paper.

It is one of the marvels of the age that Joseph B. Foraker should still be in a position to "lock horns" with any honorable man in a contest for any public office of honor and trust. If he still has a political following, of what sort of material can it be composed? What honest republican in Ohio can degrade himself so far as to tramp behind Joseph B. Foraker and soil his shoes in the slime of Joseph B. Foraker's personal record?

At the conclusion of the investigation by congress of the Foraker-Wood forgery, the convicted and discredited, but not abashed, ex-governor impudently asserted his belief in the existence of a genuine paper similar to the forged subscription list which Wood produced and Foraker fathered in the campaign of 1889. That is to say, Foraker declared that while his document might be a forgery, John Sherman was nevertheless a scoundrel, and the evidence of John Sherman's infamy was some where in existence. And Foraker dramatically declared then and there that he intended "to devote the balance of his life to running it down."

He has never run it down, and he never will. And yet so loose is the conception on the part of a great many republicans of Ohio of the first principles of morality and personal honor that Foraker has been able to shift his burden of shame and guilt onto the shoulders of a not inconsiderable following, and to talk about his "friends" and his legitimate ambition, and to notify John Sherman that he must play fair or else lock horns with the joint proprietor and responsible utterer of the Foraker-Wood forged subscription list.

LOCAL LABOR NEWS.

The Building Trades council will discuss matters pertaining to Labor day at the regular meeting this evening.

The Stationary Engineers held an interesting session Saturday evening. The report of the delegates to the national convention was read and accepted.

A special meeting of the Labor day arrangement committee will be held Thursday evening to settle up accounts.

The clerks do not propose allowing the early closing movement to lag. A committee of street car men called upon Summit street merchants Saturday afternoon relative to the matter.

The Labor Record comes out as bright and breezy as ever, and is having quite a boom among Toledo workingmen.

NO DOUBT OF VICTORY.

McKinley, in 1890, was defeated by 300 or more votes. The grounds of contest were not then well understood, but now that the robber-tariff flag has been raised, the Ohio democrats need have no doubt of a more decisive result. In fact, if they pull together, they should be able to win the legislature and send one of their own kind to the United States senate, in place of Sherman or Foraker.—New York Daily News.

THE LATTER, OF COURSE.

The appearance of Col. Shepard on the Ohio stump indicates one of two things. The republican committee is confident that there is nothing under the sun that can impair Maj. McKinley's prospects, or else it has given up all hope and proposes to have a little fun for the time and money expended.—Washington Post.

FITZMEIER CAUGHT.

After Wandering About Canada He Returns to the United States And Is Arrested.

George Fitzmeier, formerly a salesman for Leland, Smith & Co., and who suddenly left with some of the firm's money about six weeks ago, has been landed by the police at Green Bay, Wisconsin, and will soon be on his way to Toledo.

Fitzmeier was city solicitor and collector for the firm, and when he left he took with him about $600 in money that he had collected. He first went to Cleveland with his wife, but left her there on a pretense and went to Detroit, from which city he crossed to Windsor, Ontario. Mrs. Fitzmeier returned to Toledo, and here received a letter from her husband stating that he was in Canada, to avoid trouble on account of a shortage with the firm.

Fitzmeier stayed in Windsor for some time, where he was continually watched by the police. It is thought that he discovered this, and becoming frightened left. He traveled about Canada for awhile, and finally crossed back into the United States and went to Green Bay. The case had been in the hands of Detective Manley, who kept trace of the embezzler's movements and when he returned to Green Bay the police were notified to arrest him, which they did Friday. Fitzmeier waived a requisition and Detective Manley left yesterday afternoon to bring him back.

SENSATIONAL SUIT.

A Woman Coerced Into Departing With $7,000.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 14.—Papers were served Saturday in what will be a sensational case. Mrs. Catherine E. Clark, wife of Lumberman Samuel Clark, sues the Capital bank for the return of a paid-up life insurance policy for $7,000.

She alleges that she was induced to go to the bank, and there, surrounded by the directors and their attorney, terrorized into assigning the policy by the charge that her husband had committed a crime and that unless she gave up the policy she would be instantly arrested.

She says she was driven to desperation and signed the paper, not knowing what was in it and that her husband is insane and irresponsible.

The Capital bank is a big concern and this serious charge has created a sensation in financial circles.

MARKED FOR THE GRAVE.

A Kansas Family Which Was Doomed.

Dynamite is Followed by Poison.

A Strange Case Which the Officers of the Law are Making an Effort to Fathom.

Kansas, City, Mo., Sept. 14.—Mrs. Anna Juvenal, wife of J. M. Juvenal, of Armourdale, died at 2 o'clock Sunday morning. Her husband avers that death was the result of arsenic put in a water-cooler, and that she was the victim of a plot against his life begun with the dynamite explosion on the night of August 10, when part of his home was destroyed, and charged with which Millie Pfaffmann, of this city, is now under a bond of $5,000 to appear before Justice of the Peace Hering, in Armourdale, for a preliminary hearing.

From the time of the explosion Juvenal and his wife feared that other attempts would be made on their lives, for what reason Juvenal only knows, and so left their home.

They spent some time visiting Mrs. Ricketts in Excelsior Springs and at the homes of other friends. Last Sunday was spent at the springs, they returning late last night. Monday morning Mrs. Juvenal prepared breakfast, using some water which had stood some time in a cooler.

Soon after breakfast Juvenal was taken ill with cramps in the stomach, but was relieved by a visit to a physician. Monday noon he was to meet his wife at the home of her mother, on Shawnee avenue, but when he called there she had not come.

He returned to his home in the afternoon after visiting the home of his sister, Mrs. Ashlock, thinking that his wife had perhaps gone there. When he entered his own home he found his wife lying on the bed unconscious.

Dr. Doyle, a friend of Juvenal, the man with many enemies, was called, and after bringing she suffering woman back to consciousness, prescribed a medicine which relieved her.

Nothing was thought of the water from the cooler, but Mrs. Hopewell, another sister, drank and immediately became ill. Doyle, when he came Tuesday, had occasion to go to the cooler and raise the cover. He says that he found floating on the surface a powder, which he declared was arsenic. Though the doctor declares that the substance was arsenic, scientific authorities say that this poison would be dissolved, or would be precipitated to the bottom of the water.

Juvenal, when told by the doctor that his wife had been poisoned, threw away all the provisions in the house except some cornmeal.

This was used the next morning by Juvenal, who knew how to make pancakes. He gave one of the cakes to his wife, and she again became very ill. He ate the cakes for his breakfast, and during the forenoon became ill at Daniels Bros.' stable, where he had stopped for his horse. Dr. Elliott was called to attend him, and pronounced the symptoms those of arsenical poisoning. Juvenal declares that there was poison in the flour.

Mrs. Juvenal was slightly ill for some days before it was thought she was poisoned. As yet no analysis of the contents of the water cooler or of the flour has been made, so that Juvenal's belief that his wife is a victim of poison is unsubstantiated. Since Monday Mrs. Juvenal has been continuously ill. Death came at 2 o'clock Sunday.

On the night of August 10 last, at about 11 o'clock, a portion of their house was destroyed by an explosion, supposed to have been caused by dynamite. The porch and a small corner of the building was torn off. Millie Pfaffmann was arrested the next day, charged with having committed the crime.

THE TRIP TO THE BAY.

A Large Number of Toledoans Enjoy It—The Hotel Victory.

Yesterday was a delightful day and the steamer City of Toledo took a very large crowd to Put-in-Bay and Middle Bass. The weather could not have been finer and every one on board enjoyed one of the loveliest rides and day's outings that could possibly be desired. The trip down and back was made in three hours each way and the speed this splendid steamer is able to make in deep water is very gratifying indeed to its owners. The Hotel Victory shows up nicely and is so nearly finished that there is no question whatever as to its being opened the coming summer.

Mars Nearing, F. N. Quale, John Craig, Mr Kirby, of Detroit, Mr. Owen Davis and several others took occasion to visit Hotel Victory and look over the great hotel. They expressed themselves as highly pleased, and all united in saying that Mr. Tillotson had practically succeeded in building for the island and Toledo one of the finest hotels in the entire world. It is understood that the floor surface and ceiling surface of this hotel is greater than that of any other known hotel. Manager Tillotson returned on the boat last evening and is removing his family to Washington and Twenty-second streets, where he has purchased himself a home.

COME BOYS, CASH UP!

Such is the Order from Chairman Hahn.

More Money is Needed to Buy Tin Plate.

It Wouldn't Cost as Much With the Duty Off But Republicans Don't Mind Such Obstacles.

Columbus, O., Sept. 14.—The republican campaign of boodle is on, and the G. O. P. is actively engaged in its annual attempt to corrupt the ballot-box by debauching the voters.

In direct violation of the laws of the United States, Chairman Hahn and his committee are engaged in the work of levying blackmail in the form of an assessment upon the holders of every federal position in Ohio.

These assessments, of course, are "voluntary contributions," but the holder of a federal office who receives one of Chairman Hahn's letters and does not "appreciate it" by whacking up 5 per cent. of his salary, will find his name in the black book at state and national headquarters, and ere the snow flies in November will learn that he has been marked for decapitation.

No more practical politician than Hahn was ever at the head of the republican machine in this state.

In addition to the vast sums that will be sent into Ohio by the republican barons, mononopolists and money kings of the east to aid in McKinley's election, the state committee is engaged in bleeding every federal official accredited to Ohio and every republican in the employ of the state, to swell the corruption fund, as the following ingeniously worded circular sent out by Chairman Hahn attests.

The gentleman to whom it was sent was formerly in the postal service, but some months ago was dropped, because he was not considered sufficiently offensive in his partisanship.

Although a republican, he is not training with Chairman Hahn's crowd this year, and that the methods of the republicans may be exposed, he sent Hahn's circular to the press.

It is as follows, minus the full list of the executive committee, which is printed at its head:

DEAR SIR: The republican executive committee of Ohio is now fully organized and actively at work. Funds are required for this work.

The campaign in Ohio is now more than a state campaign. It is national in both its importance and effect. The election of Hon. Wm. McKinley, Jr., and his associates on the ticket and a republican general assembly this fall in Ohio and a republican United States senator from this state assures republican success in the campaign of 1892. You are the incumbent of place made possible by the success of the party in the past. The continued success of the republican party is of great interest and advantage to the whole county, and you no doubt appreciate it.

A liberal contribution from you, as an individual, will largely aid the committee in the furtherance of its work. In the ordinary business affairs of life, promptness of payment is absolutely required. Such promptness in our business is equally important. We will be pleased to hear from you at once. Yours truly,

W. M. HAHN, Chairman.
W. S. MATTHEWS, Secretary.

FLOODS IN SPAIN.

Toledo Has Lost Two Thousand Lives By the Deluge.

Madrid, Sept. 14.—The floods in the province of Toledo have inflicted enormous damage and caused the loss of 2,000 lives, according to official advices thus far received from the stricken district.

Communication is almost entirely cut off in many directions and it is believed that when the full returns are received a still greater calamity will be revealed.

BENJAMIN'S CABINET.

Washington People are Fixing It Up.

The Chances are That the Official Family Will be Thoroughly Reorganized.

Washington, Sept. 14.—The air in Washington is full of reports of coming changes in the cabinet. As a matter of fact Washington has little else to talk of except cabinet changes and things of that nature, largely speculative, for some time back. If there has been a duller town in the United States than Washington for six weeks or two months back the people who have been watching the run of events here would like to know of it. There seems to be a kind of general suspicion among the people here, officially and otherwise, that something is going to happen soon. Elaine's friends insist that he will retire from the state department.

It seems to be conceded that Partner Miller is going to be made a circuit judge as soon as congress convenes. Unless Bob Lincoln can be prevailed upon to surrender the English mission, the suspicion is that Noble will be transferred from the interior department to the department of justice.

Steve Elkins seems to be still the favorite in administration circles for the war portfolio.

As usual, of course, Clarkson is mentioned for a place, but it is doubtful if the president is willing to consider Clarkson as probability, or even a possibility, as nearly everybody on the inside of politics seems to be convinced that Clarkson is dead against Harrison's renomination, and is now and has for some time past been in the active employ of Alger.

One of the summer rumors—it cannot be anything more than a summer rumor—is that Lew Wallace may be called to the war portfolio. This is but street talk, however, and finds no credence in official circles.

Harrison is figuring on votes in the next national convention. He is appointing nobody to office nowadays who cannot furnish both influence and votes. Lew Wallace is a back number.

He has no political standing in Indiana, and consequently dicussion of him in any way ranges on the verge of absurdity. But there will be changes in the cabinet, changes that may involve almost its entire composition, seems to be conceded. Blaine is to be driven out rather than have the impression go abroad that he retires voluntarily.

The Harrison people are trying to send the impression abroad that there is a good understanding between Harrison and Blaine, but nearly everybody here who is familiar with the political status of men and measures is aware that the feeling between Blaine and Harrison, far from being pleasant, is extremely bitter.

Mrs. Blaine and the Blaine children are opposed to Blaine running for the presidency again for reasons of taheir own. They are opposed to Harrison, however, and are quite willing that Blaine should lend his name to the anti-Harrison boomers for the purpose of defeating the renomination of the president.

Blaine himself is anxious to be president, and if his health is in condition the chances are that he will run again. The whole situation therefore narrows on the question of Blaine's health. If he feels strong enough he will take the nomination and make the campaign. If he is alive and not strong enough the chances are that he will make a will later on and substitute some person like Alger as his residue legiate.

As a matter of fact, Quay, Clarkson, Platt & Co. are more interested in the Blaine residue legiate than they are in Blaine at the present time.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—U. S. Gov't Report, Aug. 17, 1889.

REMANDED BACK.

The Case of Adelbert College v the Toledo & Wabash.

This morning there was received in the United States court the decision of Judge Jackson in the well-known case, the Adelbert college of the Western Reserve v the Toledo, Wabash & Western Railroad company.

Judge Jackson goes into the case at great length, and decides that the case must be remanded back to the common pleas of Lucas county on the ground of lack of jurisdiction in the higher court. He states that the decision can be taken up and contested in the supreme court of the United States under a certain section, and this may be done.

CHARLES ADOLPHE PENETON,

The Marquis de Chambrun, Died Yesterday.

A Scion of Royalty Who Preferred to Earn Fame Rather Than Inherit It.

New York, Sept. 14.—Charles Adolphe Pineton, the Marquis de Chambrun and the Marquis D' Amfreville, the legal adviser of the French government in this country died in this city yesterday morning.

He had been ill for some time but the direct cause of death was a stroke of paralysis on August 2. His wife, who was in Paris at the time, was informed by cable, and after exhausting all possible means to reach her husband's bedside before his death she arrived with her daughter half an hour after he expired.

The Marquis Chambrun was very well known as a lawyer both in this country and in France. With the fall of Napoleon III, he discarded his title and never referred to it, preferring to earn fame by means of his profession.

He displayed a hearty contempt for the other members of the French aristocracy in this country who obtained social recognition by means of their titles. He came to this country in 1865 as a social envoy of the French government to study the cause of the rebellion. Later he was appointed legal adviser of the government and has been connected with many famous cases. He was born in 1831.

THE AFFAIRS OF CHILI.

Murderers are to be Hunted Down.

Why the Dictator Lost His Battle—Believed to be Still in His Native Land.

New York, Sept. 14.—The Herald's Valparaiso dispatch this morning says the provisional government issued orders on Saturday for the arrest of all robbers, pillagers, and slayers of congressional sympathizers. The murderers of Isadore Ossa, Cummings and the 42 students, slain on August 18, will be especially sought after.

In an interview had with two of Balmaceda's officers, now in prison here, it was learned that both Balmaceda's generals, Barbosa and Alzerreca, were utterly incapable officers.

They flagrantly disobeyed Balmaceda's orders, thus causing the overthrow of his government. His explicit instructions to them were that they should not engage the junta troops with less than 14,000 men, but that they should draw the enemy inland.

General Barbosa so utterly despised his adversaries that he acted exactly to the contrary of these orders. The result was his disastrous defeat.

The murder of ex-Minister Aldunate, on September 7 is deeply deplored by the new government. Aldunate was travelling toward Santiago under escort of some government troops who murdered him and took $30,000 which he had in his possession. The body was terribly mutilated.

No trace of Balmaceda has so far been found. Advices from Buenos Ayres say he has not yet reached there. The opinion is general that he is hiding somewhere in Chili.

THE WORK OF FIENDS.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 14.—Mrs. Tillie Hunter, colored, 68 years of age, was fatally burned yesterday in a saloon on Martin street. The woman went into the place to get a pail of beer. Two strangers were standing at the bar who began jeering her.

She took it in good part and stood waiting for her beer, when one of the men, after lighting a cigarette, deliberately threw the burning match on the woman's clothes. They flamed up in an instant. By the aid of a policeman, who heard the woman's shrieks, the flames were extinguished, but not until the woman was terribly burned. The fellows made their escape. The woman died later in the evening.

WILL GO TO CHINA.

Shanghai, Sept. 14.—A steamer has been chartered by the British government to at once proceed to Lohang with men, ammunition and arms.

COLLIDED IN A FOG.

Ocean Boats Run at Full Speed at All Times.

An Unknown Schooner With Her Entire Crew Sent to the Bottom of the Sea.

London, Sept. 14.—The steamship Arizona, of the Guion Line, which left New York on Saturday, Sept. 5, for Liverpool, arrived Sunday at Queenstown in a battered condition, after a perilous voyage across the Atlantic.

Early on the morning of the 6th, while the Arizona was steaming rapidly in a fog, an unknown sailing vessel, believed to be a large coasting schooner, collided with the Arizona.

The shock was very great and aroused the passengers from their beds. For a time the greatest excitement reigned until it was found that the steamer was not, as many feared, liable to go to the bottom.

The stem of the schooner struck the Arizona's port quarter. Thirty feet of rails of the steamship deck were carried away and a life-boat smashed. The deck was considerably damaged, and several plates of the vessel's side were badly indented.

While the extent of the injury to the steamer was being ascertained, life-boats were prepared for the use of the passengers, and every preparation possible made for the saving of life in case the steamship should prove a wreck. Fears of such a catastrophe were, however, soon allayed, though it was a long time before the passengers recovered from the shock of their sudden awakening.

Search was made for the colliding schooner, but not a sign could be seen, nor was a cry heard. The terrible shock had apparently crushed the sailing vessel in a twinkling, and caused her to foundder. Part of the bowsprit of the schooner remained on the Arizona's deck, and other wreckage indicated the fate of the unfortunate mariners. The Arizona's machinery had not suffered by the collision and the voyage was pursued at the usual speed and without further accident.

SCIENCE IN BREAD MAKING.

At the recent annual meeting of the American Chemical Society held in Washington, D. C., the question of the value of carbonate or ammonia as a leavening agent in bread, or as used in baking powders came up for discussion, in which Prof. Barker, of the University of Pennsylvania, and President of the Society; Dr. Richardson, late of the United States Department of Agriculture in Washington; Dr. Wm. McMurtrie, late Professor of Chemistry in the University of Illinois; Dr. E. H. Bartley, late Chemist of the Brooklyn, N. Y., Board of Health, and Professor of Chemistry of the Long Island College, and others took part.

The consensus of opinion was overwhelming in favor of the employment of ammonia. It was stated as a fact that ammonia rendered the gluten of the flour more soluble than the original gluten, and that the bread in which this action was produced by carbonate of ammonia must be more digestible and hence more healthful, and because of the extreme volatility of carbonate of ammonia, and its complete expulsion from the bread in the process of baking, it is one of the most useful, most healthful and most valuble leavening agents known.

These conclusions are borne out by the very elaborate and exhaustive experiments made by Prof. J. W. Mallett, of the University of Virginia, which show conclusively that bread made with a baking powder in which one per cent. of carbonate of ammonia is used, in connection with cream of tartar and soda, is not only uniformly better color and texture, but a product more wholesome, because the ammonia serves to neutralize any organic or lactic acids present in the flour.

THEIR MOTHER.

My boy sat looking straight into the coals,
From his stool at my feet one day,
And the firelight burnished the curly head,
And painted the cheeks with a dash of red,
And brightened his very eyes, as he said,
In his most confidential way.

"Mamma, I think, when I'm a grown-up man,
I shall have just two little boys."
I smiled—he was six!—but he did not see,
And I said, "Why, how nice that will be!
But if one were a girl, it seems to me,
It would add to your household joys."

"Well—yes," reflectively, "that would be nice,
And I'll tell you just what I'll do:
I'll name one Robbie, for me, you know,"
Then the bright eyes shown with a deeper glow,
"And there's just the two of us now, and so I'll name the girl Annie, for you."

"But how would their mother like that?" I asked.
"Do you think that she would agree
For us both to have names while she had none?"
With the mystified, puzzled look of one
Wholly befogged, said my logical son,
"Their mother! Why, who is she?"

A strange discovery has been made in France, at the Chateau Champlain. A grower found that his vineyard was encumbered by an old decayed wall and obtained permission to have it pulled down. Some remnants of clothes reduced to dust were found on the ground where the skeletons lay, as well as some rusty iron fragments.

An up-town man, having nothing else to do, thought he would try an experiment, so he turned the hands of a clock in his room the full 24 hours of a day, and found it took with moderate movement one minute of time to accomplish that task. A rich man of Boston has one son who became of age this summer. The father has no other occupation save that of nursing his income, and as he is a man of sense and liberal views he told his son that he must not stand idle, yet left to him the choice of business or profession. At the same time he wrote privately to 24 friends and acquaintances, asking their advice in the matter. The 24 were prominent, each in his own calling. And each replied in turn, complaining of his own business and advising the father to seek elsewhere for the future prosperity of the young man.

The geographical congress recently held in Switzerland, recommended the universal adoption of the metric system and also the Greenwich meridian for the reckoning of longitude and time. It is doubtful if this will be done, however, by all nations, for, although a standard in both cases would be beneficial to the world at large, France naturally desires Paris time, and England would never surrender her prime meridian and adopt a revolution in her system of measurements unless the new measure was examined and based upon intrinsic merit.

A wife, living on the outskirts of San Francisco, wanting to send information of the serious illness of the baby to her husband, whose place of business was five miles distant, intrusted the message to one of the family's carrier pigeons. The bird not only delivered it safely, so the San Francisco Examiner relates, but brought back a small vial of medicine which the husband tied to its leg. All this was done in about twenty minutes, or less time than it would have taken a physician to journey out to the house.

A new explosive, known as "Terrorite," invented by Prof. D. Mendeleff of San Francisco, is said to be safer to handle than powder and much more powerful than dynamite. It is said to be also non-explosive in case of contact with fire, until the temperature reaches a white heat. To explode the loaded shell it must be supplied with a concussion fuse. If terrorite should do what is maintained for it, it would mean a complete change in warfare. No ironclad could resist a single shot, as the effect of any high grade explosive is infinitely greater than that of any kind of ordinary powder. This material is said to be so powerful that one-eighth of a pound of it is more destructive than one full pound of giant powder.

THEY WANT THE TRUTH

The Keystone Affair Must Be Ventilated.

The Administration Trying to Block the Wheels.

Philadelphians Come to the Front and Furnish Money for the Investigation.

Philadelphia, Sept. 14.—The committee of fifty for a New Philadelphia has come to the rescue of the United States government, and offered to advance the cash necessary to conduct the Federal investigation into the affairs of the defunct Keystone bank.

The fact that the services of Experts Brown and Faunce, who were employed to examine into the Keystone frauds in behalf of the government, have been dispensed with because the item of appropriation from which the expenses of their examination is to be defrayed is exhausted, caused the committee to take this action and Secretary of the Treasury Foster will be urged to take advantage of the committee's liberality.

It is believed that the amount required to complete the experts' investigation will be about $5,000, and prominent members of the committee stand ready to make up this amount and more, if necessary, and are perfectly willing to trust to the next congress making an appropriation to cover the cost of the examination and repay any advance that may be made to the treasury officials for that purpose.

The subject was brought up at a meeting of the committee of fifty yesterday, and the following letter, which was sent to the secretary of the treasury, indicates the action taken in the matter:

Hon. Charles Foster, Secretary of the Treasury, Washington, D. C.:

Dear Sir—At a meeting of the citizens' committee of fifty, for a New Philadelphia, held this afternoon, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the Hon. Charles Foster, secretary of the United States treasury, be requested to do all in his power toward providing means for the continuation of the investigation of the affairs of the Keystone National bank by the experts appointed by the government. It is of vital importance alike to the credit of the national banking system and to the cause of justice that this investigation shall be pursued to the end directly under the auspices of the United States government.

Resolved, That if it be true, as stated, that experts employed by the government have been dismissed for the reason that there are now no funds available for the payment of their expenses, that this committee will advance any reasonable amount required to meet such expenses until such time as an appropriation can be made by congress for their reimbursement, and that this offer be immediately tendered by letter to the secretary of the treasury.

On behalf of the citizens' committee of 50 for A New Philadelphia.

FRANCIS B. REEVES, Chairman.
Attest: ROBERT R. CORSON, Secretary.

Trying to Block the Wheels.

Washington, Sept. 14.—Doubt is expressed in the treasury department of the power of the treasury to accept the offer of the Philadelphia common council to advance the money to continue the government examination of the affairs of the Keystone National bank.

A conference between the solicitor of the treasury, Comptroller Lacey and Acting Secretary Spaulding will be held to determine the matter.

Considerable criticism is indulged in as to the expense of the investigation and the way in which $7,000 has been eaten up in so short a time. The experts, it is said, receive $32 per day for their services, which is more than three times as much as experts usually receive, $10 per day being the ordinary pay.

DUEL AT A CAMP MEETING.

A Man Defends His Sister's Name.

A Fight in Which One Man Is Nearly Beheaded and Another Terribly Wounded.

Laurel, Del., Sept. 14.—It is not often that a deadly duel is fought at a religious camp meeting to defend the name of a lady.

But such a duel, bloody, desperate and fought so nearly to the death that only one of the well known combatants can by any possibility recover, was fought at the Delmar camp meeting.

Frederick Williams, aged 22, a jeweler of Laurel, and Harvey L. Wells, aged 26, a farmer of Whitesville, were the duelists.

Over a year ago Wells spoke disparagingly of Williams' sister, and since then the men have been enemies.

At a village camp or tent meeting in the rear of the Delmar Methodist church Williams and Wells were among the attendants. About 8 o'clock Williams started to leave the tent. As he reached the doorway Wells started to come in. The latter fell against Williams, who asked if there was not room enough for both. This enraged Wells, and with a volley of oaths he insisted upon fighting out the old grudge.

The brethren quietly asked the challengers to go outside, and they got 15 feet from the door, where they fought.

It was at first agreed that the two should fight it out with fists. But they went at it so in earnest that both Wells and Williams soon lost their hats, clinched each other in a firm grasp and rolled upon the ground, each struggling to his utmost to win.

It was then that the affair was transformed from a prize fight into a mortal combat with weapons. Wells, who was getting the worst of it, was soon seen to be cutting at Williams with a large knife. Realizing his danger, Williams got out his revolver, and its repeated discharges brought to an abrupt end all religious exercises in the grove.

Bystanders separated the men as soon as possible; but the few seconds' desperate work had wrought a terrible butchery. Williams was cut in the back and side of the neck almost to the vertebra—indeed, his head was nearly cut off—and he had a deep wound over his left eye and a pistol ball in his arm.

Wells had two bullets wounds, one in the neck and the other just over the heart.

The wounds of both men were first thought to be fatal, but this morning the physicians said for a time that they hoped to save Williams' life.

There is no hope for Wells, however, as he is bleeding internally and sinking very rapidly.

After taking one dose of his Worm Elixir I was relieved of 287 worms, after which I commenced to improve, and in two months was able to do my own work." This is the children's Ideal Worm Medicine.

AN HONEST DETROITER

Who Admits That the Kirby Was Beaten.

Manager Ashley's Statement Badly Mutilated—The Truth as to That Catawba Race.

Manager Kirby's statement printed a few days ago, to cover the defeat of the steamer Frank E. Kirby by the City of Toledo, by alleging that the Kirby was not doing her best to get away from the City, is badly damaged by the following statement of a Detroit man, who knows when he is beaten, which appeared in yesterday's Free Press:

Apropos of the discussion in your columns of the relative merits of the F. E. Kirby and City of Toledo, I want to say that as a Detroiter my sympathies are with the former, but unfortunately they will not help her do the business, and as a steamboat man I have seen and been in a good many races and know when I am beaten, and the refusal to recognize that fact makes ultimate defeat the worse.

I was on board the City of Toledo last Sunday when she was "chasing the Kirby for all she was worth." I know that the Kirby was straightened out at the point before the Toledo let go her last line. Taking your figure of a minute and a half as the difference between the boats, that represents nearly one-half a mile, but I think the distance was really greater. The distance from dock to dock is eight miles over a course of which not more than three miles are straight. To expect that the Toledo would pick up that half mile in eight would be to expect that she should beat the Kirby over a mile an hour, which no one claims. But I do know that when the Kirby checked the Toledo had reduced the distance between them fully one-half. I cannot say how much faster the Toledo can go, but I know that by my own and several other timepieces the Kirby was turning a fraction over 36 and the Toledo 39, with some "cut" to spare. As to the three miles faster that Mr. Ashley speaks of, it would require about five turns per minute more of the Kirby's wheel to do it, even supposing there is to be no slip, and it is exceedingly doubtful if it is in the boat.

HENRY PENTON,
Draftsman, Frontier Iron Works.

Now, Mr. Ashley is clearly contradicted in two particulars. He asserted that the City of Toledo gained very little, if any, on the Kirby, in the eight mile race.

Mr. Penton states that the distance between the two boats at starting was reduced fully one-half. Ashley averred that the Kirby was only going at her usual rate of speed. When the boat is doing her average work her wheels turn 30 revolutions per minute, yet Mr. Penton says the Kirby during this race was turning a fraction over 36, and the City 39, with something to spare. Mr. Penton also takes issue with Ashley in his statement that the Kirby could do three miles per hour more than she was doing at the time, and says that speed is not in the boat.

There seems to be a question of veracity here between two Detroit men, and as Mr. Penton says, although his sympathies were with the Kirby he knows when he is beaten, and as Mr. Ashley would very naturally overdraw the matter in favor of his own boat, it is most likely that Penton is nearest the truth.

His statements only corroborates the assertion that has been made by other parties on the City of Toledo at the time.

There is no doubt but that the Kirby was beaten, and that the City of Toledo is much the faster boat.

WANT HIS CHATTELS.

New York, Sept. 14.—Judge Ingraham, of the supreme court, at the instance of the German consul, has issued an attachment against the property in this state of Ernest Bock, who, as bookkeeper of the Prussian Mortgage Insurance Stock company, of Berlin, is charged with embezzling 378,000 marks belonging to the concern. He disappeared on September 3, and it is supposed took passage for this country in the steamer Augusta Victoria, which sailed on the 31 instant, or the Saale, which sailed on the 5th.

SIXTY WERE DROWNED.

Rome, Sept. 14.—A dispatch received from Athens says the lost steamer Thermina had on board 48 passengers, and a crew of 49 men. Among the passengers was an American named John C. Oliphant. Of the whole number of persons on board the ill-fated vessel, only the second officer and 30 others were saved. These figures would make it appear that 66 people were lost.

RECEIVER APPOINTED.

New York, Sept. 14.—Judge Ingraham has appointed Henry Meiville receiver of the property of Sylvester L'Hommedieu, on application of the Danbury National bank, judgment creditor. JUMPED THE TRACK.

Serious Wreck on the Union Pacific.

Twenty - Six Passengers Badly Bruised—Five of Them Will Probably Die.

Denver, Sept. 14.—Passenger train No 814, bound toward Denver on the Graymont district of the Union Pacific railway, was wrecked Sunday morning about 11 o'clock near Beaver Brook station, and 26 passengers were injured, five of whom will probably die.

The train was late and running very rapidly, when rounding a sharp curve the express car left the track and rolled down a 15-foot embankment. It was followed by the mail and two passenger coaches, one of which turned over twice before reaching the bottom.

The train was loaded with passengers, many of whom were Knights of Pythias who were returning from the Knights of Pythias state convention, which was held in Aspen last week.

When the news reached Golden, Col., a wrecking train was ordered out and was starting when Robert Bruin, an employe of the road, attempted to board the engine. In doing so his revolver fell from his hip pocket, the hammer striking a stone, and the weapon was discharged, the ball taking effect in the man's neck, making a wound which will result fatally.

Those seriously injured in the wreck were left at Golden in the hands of physicians, while those not badly hurt were brought to this city and taken to their homes or the hospitals. The seriously injured are:

Mrs. Gutchmacher, of Black Hawk, Col., collar bone broken, back hurt, and internal injuries.

—— Ruhfelgerner, merchant of Black Hawk, internal injuries.

George B. Tarr, conductor, of this city, chest crushed and internal injuries.

—— Burnett, of Nevapaville, Col., spine injured and injured internally.

—— Waters, injured internally.

Some of the less seriously injured are as follows: E. L. Warren, broken arm and bruises of body; George Ault, express messenger, right wrist broken; W. Browning, bruised on right side; W. H. Wardeck, legs bruised; R. C. Videl, right side and hip bruised; J. S. Lallie, slight cuts on head, bruises on both hips; W. C. Dusseldorp, bruised on right side; Ernest Howard, back hurt; E. M. Dunsmore, cut on left side head, chest bruised; Frank Brodie, cut on right hand and back sprained; E. Hogle, cut on head and bruised back; C. C. Davis, right hand bruised, cut on head; Mrs. Sterns, bruises on chest; child, 6 years old, legs bruised; Henry Howey, cut on head; John Windell, bruises all over body; M. Firby, slight bruises on head and right leg; Owen Jones, bruised on head and right side; R. S. Gulter, cut in back of head, seriously hurt.

There are others who were slightly injured, but whose names cannot be learned.

It is not known exactly what caused the wreck, but as the train was a narrow gauge and the coaches very top-heavy it is thought that the train was running too rapidly for safety.

FLORICULTURE AT THE FAIR.

Views of the Chief of This Department On the Exhibit.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—Mr. John Thorpe, the newly appointed chief of the floriculture branch of the department of horticulture, writes as follows, concerning the requirements of the floral display at the exposition.

An effort may be made to change the location of the horticultural building at the World's Columbian exposition to a place where the building, or at least the central portion, may remain as a permanent conservatory after the close of the great exposition.

The large island in the lagoon has been suggested as an excellent permanent site, and the building could be placed there without necessarily destroying all the trees.

The main part of the building could be erected as a permanency and the wings and annexes so built that they would be readily removed after the close of the fair, without in any way injuring the arcitectural effect of the main part.

It is believed that if the horticultural building is to be made a permanency many contributions of immense specimen plants can be secured that would otherwise be withheld, as the owners, while willing to send such specimens to form part of a permanent national collection, would be loath to run the risk of their total loss simply for a few months' display.

And to such an exhibition would be contributed many large specimens that have outgrown the limits of the conservatories which they at present occupy.

In addition to these there will be brought from their habitants specimens of tree ferns, palms, crotons and similar decorative plants of larger size than any ever seen here before—giants such as have never before been in cultivation, and such as no existing conservatory would be large enough to house.

All these will be gathered together in the great horticultural building at the fair, and it is of vast importance to horticulture that such a magnificent collection should be made permanent.

Many of the plants that would be contributed to such a collection from public and private conservatories are now historical, and if gathered together in a permanent collection would be a standing national monument of lasting interest and value.

This is a splendid opportunity for the formation of the grandest collection of decorative plants, the finest collection of economic plants, and the most complete assemblage of unique specimens in the world, and it should not be permitted to pass unimproved.

We trust that the powers that be will weigh the matter carefully, and if the site already assigned the horticultural building is not eligible for a permanent conservatory, that such change be at once made as to permit the execution of the plan above outlined.

WILL LAY THE CORNER STONE

Impressive Ceremonies at St. Anthony's Next Sunday.

In all the Catholic churches of the city yesterday the announcement was made that the corner stone of the new Polish church—St. Anthony's—corner of Junction avenue and Division street, would be laid next Sunday.

It is the understanding that Monseigner Boff will officiate, and all the Catholic societies of the city will be in attendance.

The point of rendezvous will be City park, and all the societies who propose participating should report there not later than 1 o'clock p. m.

The church will be one of the largest and finest in the city. It will cost about $75,000.

FITZGERALD WILL RECOVER.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 14.—The physicians of John Fitzgerald, president of the Irish Land League of America, say he will survive his attack of congestion of the brain, but admit reluctantly that mentally he will never be himself again. The sad news has greatly affected his many friends.

RATHER THIN.

London, Sept. 14.—The official announcement comes from Calcutta that the government has chosen a 5-year old relative of the ex-maharajrah as the new rajah of Manipur. During his minority affairs will be administered by a British officer.

HEAVY CARGOES.

London, Sept. 14.—The dockers declined to unload the grain cargo of the steamer Lydian Monarch on Sunday. The vessel owners are showing feverish haste to discharge the heavy cargoes of American grain arriving at all ports.

BURNED IN A GALE.

Sault Ste Marie, Mich., Sept. 14.—Hollister & Jewell's sawmill at Garden River, 10 miles below here, caught fire during a heavy gale yesterday. The mill stock of dry and green lumber, dock, tramways, etc., are totally destroyed. Loss, $200,000.

PROPOSITION TO BUY

Mr. Rehberg's Property at Middle Bass—It is Regarded Favorably.

The Middle Bass club are considering the question of purchasing the property of Mr. Rehberg at the island, on which they already have an option. Members who have expressed themselves on the subject, seem to think it the proper thing to do as the club would have every facility for raising their own vegetables produce, poultry, etc., as well as having control of the hall besides. They would also have a large revenue from the vineyard and be able to sell lots to those who desired to build at the island. The club needs more ground and facilities, owing to its steady and constant growth, and memberships which only a few years ago were worth $230 have now a steady sale at $275 and $300. It is understood that the entire property of Mr. Rehberg is valued at $50,000.

Mr. Al. Spitzer has purchased the membership of T. C. LeBaron of the Middle Bass club.

DANCING TO DEATH.

Indians Wear Their Lives Away Around the Camp-Fires.

Guthrie, O. T., Sept. 14.—A government inspector who came in from the Cheyenne and Arapahoe Indian reservation last night tells of a large number of deaths among those tribes.

They have been holding a dance on the Omachita river. During the past two days nearly a hundred of the Indians have fallen unconscious during the dance and fully half of them have died. Scores of others are very sick.

The dance was started by the Indians to appease the evil spirit and drive away a malarial fever which has been prevalent during the summer, causing the death of several hundreds.

A NEW ORGANIZATION.

T. & O. C. Offices Entered in East Toledo.

Toledoans Out of Town and Strangers in—Rate Matters Hereabouts—Other Items.

Toledo members of brotherhoods and orders of conductors, telegraphers, firemen, engineers and brakemen have been requested to meet, as many of them as possible, at Columbus, Sunday next, to talk over the formation of a new federation of railroad employes. A large number will go from here. There has been considerable friction in railroad organizations at large of late and a new body will undoubtedly result from the meeting.

Knocked Down and Beaten.

About 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon Phillip Petrie, the watchman at the Toledo & Ohio Central railroad offices in East Toledo, was jumped upon by five men and terribly beaten and bruised. His keys were taken from him, and the ruffians entered the building but did not secure anything. The watchman was too weak to move, and lay where he fell until discovered by some men passing by who took him home. No trace of the miscreants has been discovered.

Toledo and Ohio Points.

The freight committee has authorized the following rates on pig iron from Mancelona, Mich., to Ohio points to remain in effect until September.

To Toledo, 82 per gross ton; to Springfield, $2.75; to Lima, $2.25; to Cincinnati, $2.5; to Cleveland, $2.60; to Columbus, $2.75; to Dayton, $2.75.

A Toledoan Appointed.

The freight committee of the Central Traffic association having decided to increase the membership of the standing committee on paving brick, fire brick, clay and moulding sand, a number of railroad men have been added, including H. J. Booth, of Toledo, assistant general freight agent of the Wheeling & Lake Erie railroad. Hudson Fitch, general freight agent of T. & O. C., is the other local member of this committee.

To Ohio Points.

Toledo passenger men were notified this morning of the following excursion rates authorized by the Central Traffic association at one and one-third fares for the round trip:

North Ohio Conference of the M. E. church at Mansfield, O., September 23-27.

Ohio Annual Conference at Zanesville, September 23-29.

Eastern Ohio Teachers association at Coshocton, November 27 and 28.

Branches to Various Mills.

The Toledo, Ann Arbor & North Michigan railroad is to build a branch from the main line near Clare to the Doc and Tom creek, where saw and shingle mills have been built. The work of construction will commence at once.

The F. & P. M. has let a contract to M. Lally, of Detroit, for making the road-bed for eight miles of road, leaving the Harrison branch one mile north of Budd Lake, Clare county, and extending to the mills of Neff & Prestel and Wilson Bros.

Toledoans Attend the Meeting.

General Passenger Agents Moulton Houk, of the T. & O. C.; J. M. Hall, of the W. & L. E.; W. H. Bennett, of the T. A. A. & N. M.; and C. C. Jenkins, of the C. S. L. & K. C., are at Old Point Comfort, Va., attending the meeting of the American Association of General Passenger and Ticket Agents. They expect to have a good time, and undoubtedly will.

The Olms Are Coming.

F. M. Caldwell, division passenger agent of the Erie at Huntington, Ind., and D. I. Roberts, of Chicago, assistant general passenger agent of the road, are in town conferring with the passenger department of the W. & L. E. regarding the Olin family excursion. The Olms are a pretty big family, and once a year they have a big excursion and blow out. Many of them will be in Toledo for a short stay during their coming trip.

Cinders Here and There.

The Toledo passenger committee meets Tuesday, September 29.

W. H. Lovekin, of the T. & O. C., superintendent's office, has recovered from a short illness.

The earnings of the Wheeling & Lake Erie railroad for August were $119,564, an increase of $10,781 compared with the earnings of the same month last year.

Mr. John Redding of the Wabash freight depot has been all smiles for the past few days, and they are justified, too, for it's a daughter. John says he is anxiously waiting to be called "Papa."

SUNDAY SALOONS.

Assignment of the Cases in Police Court—Staub Jury Disagreed.

There were 30 cases on the police court docket this morning, but owing to the illness of Judge Sala they were not all disposed of, and the court is in session this afternoon finishing the list. Among the cases were several for keeping saloons open on Sunday, and these were continued as follows: Peter Duan, for which a jury was drawn this morning, to-morrow; Edward Heezler, Wednesday; Joseph Staub, second trial, Thursday; Al Just, Friday. The cases against Alex Genard, John C. Witt, J. W. Eckenrode and John M. Jacoby will be set for hearing next week.

The jury in the case against Joseph Staub for keeping open on Sunday was unable to agree and were discharged Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. They were given the case Friday afternoon and remained in session until the time stated. It is reported that on the second ballot the jury stood eight for conviction and four for acquittal and it remained so without change. The case will be heard again next Thursday.

Most of the saloons were closed tight yesterday, but a few were reported open. The evidence in these cases, however, is very slight.

EX-CONGRESSMAN CLARK.

Neenah, Wis., Sept. 14.—The funeral of ex-Congressman Charles P. Clark was held here yesterday. The remains were escorted to the late residence after arriving at 11 a. m. Saturday where, lying in state, they were viewed by 5,000 people. The services were in charge of Masons, assisted by the Grand Army.

At the office of the City Treasurer, with interest at the rate of five (5) per cent per annum, payable semi-annually at the same place as evidenced by coupons to be attached to said bonds.

Said improvement bonds are issued pursuant to section 2704 to 2707 of the Revised Statutes of the State of Ohio, and also under an ordinance of the common council of the City of Toledo, Ohio. "To provide for the issue of improvement bonds to pay the cost and expense of the improvement of Vermont avenue, from Adams street to Bancroft street"—passed Aug. 17, 1891.

The denomination of these bonds will be first payment one bond of $842 22-100, and thereafter one of $500, and one of $840 each payment.

The said bonds will be sold at not less than par and accrued interest to the highest bidder.

Bidders will be required to state the gross amount they will pay for the Bonds besides the accrued interest to date of delivery at Toledo, Ohio. They will also be required to deposit with each bid an amount of money or a certified check on some responsible bank equal to at least five (5) per centum of the par value of the Bonds so bid for as a guarantee of good faith, and that the bid so made (if successful) will be fulfilled in accordance with the terms thereof, and the requirements of the law and ordinances. When the bids have been examined and the award made according to law, all moneys or checks deposited as guarantees shall be returned to the depositor, or held by the City Auditor subject to his call, except that of the successful bidder, which shall be held and considered and accepted as part payment of the Bonds so awarded or sold, but should there be any repudiation of the contract or agreement or refusal to accept and pay for the Bonds so sold, then and in that case the deposit shall be forfeited to the City of Toledo, and shall become the property of said city in compensation for loss and expenses attending the sale of said bonds and as liquidated damages for repudiation of bid. And no bid will be received if not accompanied by money or check aforesaid.

The right is reserved to reject any or all bids.

Proposals should be addressed to the "Auditor of the City of Toledo, Ohio," and be indorsed "Proposals for General Street Improvement Bonds."

W. T. WALKER, City Auditor.

FARM AND GARDEN.

The Pear-Blight Beetle.

It is a very common thing this time of the year to find branches and twigs of the pear tree suddenly blighted, and to see the leaves and fruit as dead as though the branch had been cut from the tree early in the summer. This blight most usually is caused by a fungus that works in the sap of the wood, and should be treated by spraying the entire foliage of the trees several times through the early season with the remedy known as Eau Celeste. To make this remedy, dissolve one pound of copper sulphate in hot water; in another vessel dissolve one and one-fourth pounds of sal-soda in hot water; when cool, pour the two solutions together, stir, add one quart of strong ammonia, and dilute to 25 gallons. According to the Delaware station this solution costs about 40 cents per 100 gallons, and gave good results.

Although, as said, this fungus is usually the cause of the blight, and is very dangerous thing to get into an orchard, there is often a little beetle that bores into the twig and causes similar resuls. Where the pear or apple are attacked by blight it would be well to examine the blasted branches and see if there can be found any little perforations in the bark around the base of any of the lower buds or anywhere on the branches. The little bobs will be slightly larger than pin bobs, so that they can be detected with care.

The female of these beetles is only about one-tenth of an inch long, and the male much shorter yet. They are about as large around as the lead in a pencil, of a deep brown color, very rough, bristly and have the hind part of the body terminated by a broad, abrupt slope. The grubs do not bore under the bark so very long as many of the species of this family do, but are destructive enough to do much harm, especially where numerous. The species seem to prefer unhealthy trees in making an attack, but healthy growing trees are not exempt; neither do the beetles confine themselves to the branches, but sometimes attack the trunk and kill the whole tree.

There is another little beetle, Scolytus rugulosus, belonging to the same family of boring bark beetles, that has been doing quite an amount of injury lately as reported by the Illinois Experiment station. It resembles the pear tree Xyleborus in appearance and considerably in habits. Instead of being found at work in the tree, but a short time in the spring it seems to be more irregular in its habits, beng found in the various stages together through the most of the year. Again, it not only attacks apple and pear, but the peach, cherry, apricot and quince. It is a well known pest in Europe and from its attacks in southern Illinois, appearances indicate similar trouble here.

To give a satisfactory remedy for either of these borers is very difficult to do owing to their habit of living under the bark out of reach of all insectides. The most satisfactory mode yet found for keeping them in check is to watch very carefully for their work and if found at work on the fruit trees cut the branches thus affected off and burn. They will be the most apt to be found on sickly trees or those with dead branches or the blighted branches. Alkaline washes, such as strong soapsuds, are also recommended as a preventive against the beetle by preventing egg laying. If these are used they should be applied occasionally from the last of May to the middle of July.—G. C. Davis, of Agricultural College, Michigan.

How to Raise Horse Radish.

Horse radish can be planted either in fall or spring, it being an entirely hardy plant. The practice, however, is to plant in the spring; and among those who make the most of their land, and crop every foot as much as it will carry, it is placed on the ground, for example, as a second crop. The method is somewhat as follows: In the spring, where land is no object or as we said before, the fall will do—each set should be inserted in the ground with a dibble, so as to be just below the surface, the hole being made perpendicular, and the set made fast by a back-thrust of the dibble.

If no other crop is to be taken off, they should be set 16 inches apart each way in a hole ten or more inches deep. Ordinary cultivation during the summer will by fall give a solid root—sometimes a half-pound weight. As a second crop they are lined between early cabbage or almost any other vegetable.

The crop of cabbage for first use is generally about two feet apart. Line out a row every four and plant the cabbage every alternate row. When this is completed, plant the horse-radish sets between. The early crop will have become nearly ready for the market before the horse-radish makes much of a stir, and by the time the cabbage or other crop comes off, and the whole land is given up to horse-radish, the latter is ready to take hold, and will bring nearly as good returns as if given the entire land to perfect in.

Of course, as all well know, this double cropping can only be done on good, well-manured soil. In many cases where ordinary field cultivation is depended upon, one crop will probably be the better. This business of raising horse-radish in large quantities is more remunerative to those who have farms near some large village or city, as enormous quantities are sold in the fall to men who make a business of putting up in bottles this pleasant condiment, and shipping it to all parts of the world. It is now put up in vinegar, but it will not, however, keep very long. Hence it cannot be treated as ordinary canned goods.—Wm. H. Allen in American Farm News.

Onion Raising and How to Obtain the Best Results.

Experiments conducted at the station in 1889 and 1890, fully demonstrated that much is to be gained by sowing onion seed in the green-house or hot-bed in February or March and transplanting the young plants into the open ground in April or May. As compared with onions grown by the ordinary method the transplanted ones were from fifty to one hundred per cent. ahead in size and total marketable product. A marked difference has been observed in varieties, however, as to their adaptability to this method of treatment. An extended and careful study of varieties has been made the past season, with reference to their adaptability to transplanting. The following are some of the most important results of the investigation:

Early Varieties.

These require separate mention for the reason that as a class they are peculiarly adapted to transplanting. Nearly all are white and very much flattened. Some attain five inches in diameter and less than two inches in thickness. If sown in February and transplanted into the open ground as early as it can be worked in the spring, the young onions may be pulled for bunching in May and June, or nearly as early as those grown from sets. By the first of July they are ripe enough to be pulled and sold in the dry state. Both in the green and dry state they are much superior to onions grown from sets and sell for a higher price.

In these early onions the greatest profit is found as they not only bring fancy prices, but the crop can be cleared from the ground in time for celery, or other fall crops. The varieties best adapted to the purpose are Barletta, Marzajola, Pearl and Bermuda. The first named is sold under various names, such as Extra Early Barletta, Adriatic Barletta, New Early Adriatic, Bloomsdale, Pearl, New Queen, Early Radish, etc. Barletta is the earliest of those named, but Marzajola is only two weeks later and much larger. These two are the best of the early sorts.

Second Early and Late Varieties.

These classes are not easily separated although there is considerable difference between the extreme in time of ripening. Some of the second early sorts, such as Danvers, Wethersfield, Michigan and White Globe do not respond so readily to this method of treatment as the extreme early and late sorts. They have, in every instance, given increased yields by transplanting, but the gain is less than with some of the early and late sorts.

On the upland soil, however, where onion growing is somewhat precarious and uncertain, transplanting pays even with these varieties.

Of the second early and late sorts those that give the best resuls by this method are White Victoria Prize-aker, Rocca and Pompeii. Prizetaker is also known as Mamlis Prizetaker, and the Spanish King of some dealers is the same, while others it is quite different. Rocca is also known as Giant Red Rocca and New Giant Rocca. Pompeii comes under various names such as Giant Pompeii, Red Mammoth Pompeii and Mammoth Pompeii. Rocca and Pompeii possess considerable merit, but both are so badly mixed with other varieties as to make them quite unsatisfactory. White Victoria and Prizetaker are the best of all the varieties, for the general crop, thus far tested. Both attain a large size, frequently weighing more than a pound each. They have, at the station, in several instances yielded at the rate of fifteen hundred bushels per acre, and two thousand bushels per acre is quite within the bounds of possibility.

Drugging Fowls, Heavy Fledging, Etc.

I have always been opposed to drugging fowls at any time, or for any purpose. When I see a sick fowl I plant it at once, especially if it shows signs of cholera or roup. Common diarrhoea is easily cured by a simple change of diet. Gapes can be cured in a day or two. A breeder friend who lives in middle Tennessee writes me that he has lost 200 chicks by gapes, which I consider extraordinary. I do not believe, however, that gapes killed his chicks; I am of the opinion that heavy fledging is what ailed them. I lost a number of White Java chicks this spring from the same cause. I thought at first that gapes or vermin had something to do with it. The chicks sat around sleepily, with drooping wings, not inclined to eat or make any exertion. I examined them for chicken lice, something I never have in my yards—but found them free from vermine, and free from gapes. All the sick chicks were feathered heavily, their feathers seeming to come all at once. Then I saw what ailed them. I also noticed that the chicks which feathered slowly were perfectly hardy, not one of them sick. Doctoring, however, did the chicks no good. I gave them a little meat every day, burnt oyster shell powdered fine, and bread soaked in ale, as recommended by Louis Wright, but the chicks died, as chicks and old fowls always die when being doctored. So, after years of experience I have concluded that medicine does sick fowls no good, except in exceptional cases. Persons, however, who own valuable birds are bound to try remedies on them when sick. It's natural to do so. But when contagious diseases strike a yard, the "only" remedy is to kill and plant the sick fowls.

Well fowls need no drugs of any kind. And the so-called poultry powders for making hens lay beyond their natural powers, are a snare and a delusion. The idea of giving well fowls drugs to keep well on is on par with a perfectly well man taking drugs to keep his liver in order.

By the way, I have recently read a number of papers, the advice of different persons, to feed sulphur to fowls two or three times a week. As I have bred fowls for years, but have never used sulphur except in nests and about the roosts and house, I would like hear from breeders who have made a practice of feeding sulphur, (if there be any) as to its effects on their fowls and whether it is beneficial at any time. My practice with fowls has been perfect cleanliness, pure water, judicious feeding, well-ventilated quarters, and plenty of exercise. Even an amateur breeder will succeed fairly well with these precautions.—Cor. Southern Farm.

BARON HIRSCH'S FORTUNE.

How the Nucleus of His Wealth was Gained by His Grandfather.

Baron Hirsch's immense gifts to assist the unfortunate Russian Jews has aroused naturally a wide interest in the man himself and in his family. Of these latter the New York Herald gives this information: At the beginning of the century Joseph Hirsch, grandfather of the present baron, lived in Wurzburg, Bavaria, his home being an old, spacious mansion back of the cathedral. The old house still stands, and is an object of interest to visitors. In front is a little, narrow street, and right across is the Paradepiatz. A large gate, with a smaller door in it, forms the entrance into a square courtyard, from which doors lead into the various chambers. An ordinary, well-to-do Hebrew tradesman was this Joseph Hirsch, a man neither richer nor poorer than the typical Hebrew tradesman of that day, and with no visible means of bettering his condition to any considerable degree. Old Joseph, however, had lots of "pluck." He used his small capital wisely, and on one notable occasion risked a considerable sum where others would not have risked a penny. And the result of his refusal to keep his talent tied up in a napkin is that his grandson to-day is one of the richest men in Europe. The notable occasion was when he purchased the Rottendorf property, near Wurzburg. Prior to the French revolution Wurzburg and a considerable portion of Franconia had been ruled by bishops who held the rank of princes. When Napoleon, however, upset the whole frame work of Europe, the prince-bishops' troubles began. Deprived of their secular powers, they were constrained to confine themselves to their church functions, and the large estates accumulated by the monks and nuns were gradually seized and sold. Rottendorf, one of these estates and the property of the Franciscan monks, shared the fate of the best. When it was offered for sale, however, few persons in Wurzburg thought it would find a purchaser. For such confiscated church estates Catholics would not bid on account of religious scruples, and others were loath to bid because they expected that Napoleon would be overthrown and that the clergy would return to power.

Joseph Hirsch did not hesitate. He bought the Rottendorf property and bought it for a song. But he did not discover what an excellent bargain he had made until he caused a thorough investigation of the property. Then he discovered, hidden in the old Franciscan chapel, many priceless pieces of church furniture. Among them were many rare paintings and costly ornaments. The gem of the collection, however, was "Madonna and her Child" of solid gold and ornamented with many jewels. The eyes were fashioned of splendid diamonds and the image itself was wrought in exquisite style.

How much solid cash Joseph Hirsch obtained for this costly image has never been ascertained, but it must have been a large sum, and it certainly formed the nucleus of his descendants' great fortune. Before he obtained it he was a simple, unassuming Hebrew tradesman. After he obtained it he became a banker, a speculator, and when he died he left to his son, Joel Jacob, more money than he had ever dreamed of possessing. But even with this ample inheritance Joel Jacob was not satisfied. More conservative than his father, he was quite as good a business man, and as a financier his name soon became known throughout Europe. As a landed proprietor he was also successful and the great beet-sugar refinery on his Rottendorf estate proved in its way almost as profitable to him as his banking business. Over all his enterprises he kept a strict personal supervision and attended to them quite as conscientiously as he did to his religious duties, for no man has ever been a more orthodox Hebrew than he was, and no one was more esteemed by the famous Rabbi Bamberger, who in those days was considered the leader of orthodox Judaism in Germany. His elevation to the rank of nobleman by the king of Bavaria did not cause him to alter in any way his simple manner of living, and to the end of his life he never failed to render financial assistance to such Hebrew students of the university of Wurzburg as stood in need of it. Many such young men used to attend the services in the baron's private synagogue, and on such occasions they never failed to see the commodly built figure and kindly face of their benefactor.

In due time this worthy head of the Hirsh house passed away, leaving a large fortune to his son, the present baron. How this fortune has been augmented by its present possessor is well known to all students of contemporary history. As successful financiers the Hirsch family had now been known for three generations. The grandfather started on a comparatively small scale at Wurzburg, the son established a branch house at Munich, the grandson founded a magnificent establishment at Vienna, and to the fortune bequeathed to him by his father added large sums gradually amassed by his own industry and acumen. He might have added more had he not preferred to enrich with his bounty thousands of his oppressed co-religionists.

Read what Wm. B. McKinney, a leading lawyer of Troy, Ohio, says:

Troy, O., Sept. 10, 1891.--The Toledo Bee Co., Toledo, O. Gentlemen:--I have just received one of "The Complete Reversible Maps" offered to subscribers of the Bee. It is surprising to note the vast fund of useful and valuable information presented in it. The matter is complete in arrangement, everything being briefly, comprehensively and plainly set out. This magnanimous offer of the Bee is as befitting its elegant new building, as it is characteristic of that thrift and enterprise which has placed it abreast of the leading newspapers of Ohio. No one can afford to be without the map or the Bee. They are great educators. Yours truly, W. B. McKINNEY."

The celebration will begin Thursday, September 17, with a beautiful pageant, entitled "The Feast of Flowers and Youth." Friday will be a day of concerts, and meetings addressed by prominent orators and old settlers. The celebration will conclude on Saturday with a grand concert by a chorus of 500; historical oration by Hon. Joseph Cox, of Cincinnati, magnificent fireworks and a mammoth parade.
